Fiscal Years 2010-2011

Economic Development Corporation Report

November 1, 2012

The Honorable Rick Perry
The Honorable David Dewhurst
The Honorable Joe Straus
Members of the 83rd Legislature
Texas Economic Development Corporations

Fellow Texans:

I am pleased to present this biennial report on the activities of economic development corporations in Texas, as required by the Development Corporation Act of 1979, as amended.

Each year, development corporations are required to submit a one-page Economic Development Corporation Report to the Comptroller. My office then compiles the two years of information into a biennial report that is presented to the Legislature on or before Nov. 1 of each even-numbered year.

City sales tax revenue dedicated to economic development slipped to $532.2 million in fiscal 2010 and rebounded sharply to $573.1 million in fiscal 2011. This sales tax continues to be the primary local revenue source for economic development in the state.

The Comptroller's Economic Development and Analysis Division appreciates the cooperation of the staff and governing boards of the economic development corporations, as well as the city officials who were instrumental in gathering and reporting the required information. We commend them for their dedication to the important task of creating and maintaining a strong climate for economic development in their communities and for our state.

I am also pleased to inform you that this report is available on the Comptroller's Web site at www.texasahead.org/lga/edcr2011/edcr2011.pdf

I hope you find this report helpful.

Sincerely,

Susan Combs

Executive Summary

The Comptroller's office administers the economic development sales tax program and offers various economic development tools and resources to assist businesses, local governments and economic developers to expand the Texas economy.

The Economic Development and Analysis Division supports local governments with their economic development efforts in Texas. The staff offers technical assistance, informative publications, webinars and workshops on tax-related state and local economic development programs administered by the Comptroller's office. Division staff members collaborate with other state agencies to offer accredited training to economic development professionals including the Basic Economic Development Course and the statutorily mandated Economic Development Sales Tax Seminar.

The Comptroller's office offers two online resources, Texas Ahead and Texas EDGE, which provide a wealth of data that support economic growth of communities throughout Texas. Texas Ahead (www.TexasAhead.org) is a one-stop center providing key statistics affecting the Texas economy, including economic updates and forecasts. Texas EDGE is a Web-based data center for research on work force, transportation, education, tax rates, demographics and more.

Through the agency's role as administrator of the economic development sales tax programs, the Legislature has charged the Comptroller's office with compiling this informative report of Economic Development Corporations each biennium.

History of Type A and Type B Economic Development Corporations

Since the adoption of the Development Corporation Act (the Act) in 1979, Texas law has allowed cities to form economic development corporations (EDCs) to attract businesses and create job opportunities. The Legislature amended the Act in 1989 and again in 1991 to allow eligible cities to adopt dedicated sales and use taxes to fund EDCs. In 2009, the Act was re-codified to Chapters 501-505 of the Local Government Code. With the re-codification, EDCs formerly known as 4A and 4B corporations are now referred to as "Type-A" and "Type-B" corporations, respectively.

Reporting Requirement

In 1997, the Texas Legislature added a provision to the Development Corporation Act of 1979, requiring EDCs to report their financial activities to the Comptroller of Public Accounts. In each even-numbered year since 1998, the Comptroller's office has prepared a report for the Legislature summarizing the data submitted by EDCs during the preceding biennium. The statute requires all Type A and Type B corporations to file an annual report with the Comptroller's office by Feb. 1 of each year, with data from the previous fiscal year.

In December of each year, the Comptroller provides e-mail notice to all known Type A and Type B corporations, including those cities that held successful elections for the adoption of one or both sales taxes in the prior year. The notice contains an electronic access code and instructions for filing the report.

The Act restricts the report form to a single page in length (Appendix L). To improve reporting efficiency and accuracy, existing corporations may file only electronically via a secure website with a unique log-in code for each corporation that is changed annually. New Type A and Type B Corporations may file their reports by mail or facsimile. The form and the reporting history for each corporation may be viewed at: <<http://www.texasahead.org/edcreporting>>.

The Type A and Type B Sales Tax Data and Analysis

Six hundred eighty-nine EDCs filed reports for fiscal 2010. Filings increased to 697 for fiscal 2011 (Appendix A and Appendix B). Corporation revenues declined from the prior biennium by 1.4 percent to $1.49 billion. Likewise expenditures slipped by 3 percent during the same period to nearly $1.44 billion. This report provides a statewide analysis of the EDC revenue, expenditures, capital assets economic development objectives and year-end fund balances for the two fiscal years. In addition, appendices arranged by corporation type and alphabetically by city name are included to provide the detailed data reported by each EDC.

Source of Funds

In fiscal 2010 and 2011, sales tax was the major source of revenue for both types of economic development corporations (Appendix F and Appendix G). These receipts accounted for 73.3 percent of corporation revenues in fiscal 2011. Sales tax proceeds increased from fiscal 2010 to fiscal 2011 for both Type A and Type B corporations, rising a combined $40.9 million or 7.7 percent.

The second largest revenue source for all corporations in fiscal 2010 was bond proceeds/loans obtained. This category rose by nearly $23.1 million from fiscal 2010 to 2011, an increase of 22.1 percent.

When examined separately, Type A and Type B corporations differed in their trends of securing revenue from Rental/Lease/User Fees. While Type A corporations decreased their reliance on these funds by $1.3 million or nearly 22 percent from fiscal 2010 to fiscal 2011, Type B corporations increased funds obtained from Rental/Lease/User Fees by more than 35 percent or $2.3 million during the same period.

Funds from all revenue sources for Type A and Type B corporations increased a combined $75.2 million or 10.6 percent from fiscal 2010 to fiscal 2011. Separately, however, Type A corporations experienced an increase in revenue of 5.9 percent or $16.5 million, while Type B corporations saw revenues rise by $58.7 million or 13.7 percent. (Exhibit 1).

What is the Type A Sales Tax?

The Type A sales tax is essentially limited to funding industrial and manufacturing facilities, research and development facilities, recycling facilities, distribution centers, small warehouse facilities, military facilities, job training, targeted infrastructure, regional or national headquarters facilities, business airport facilities and port-related facilities. Expenditures for targeted infrastructure must be related to an authorized activity under the act.

The statute also allows a Type A corporation to undertake most Type B projects without having to change from a Type A corporation to a Type B corporation. To do so, the city council must publish notice, hold a public hearing and obtain voter approval. At the end of fiscal 2011, 216 cities had adopted the Type A economic development sales taxes.

What is the Type B Sales Tax?

A Type B sales tax allows greater flexibility in expending revenues. Generally, allowable Type B expenditures include not only those available under Type A, but also projects that contribute to the quality of life in the community, such as park-related facilities, professional and amateur sports and athletic facilities, tourism and entertainment facilities, affordable housing or other improvements or facilities that promote new or expanded business enterprises that create or retain primary jobs. At the end of fiscal 2011, 481 cities had Type B economic development corporations.

Cities must seek voter approval to levy a Type A, Type B or both types of economic development sales taxes. The Act requires a city that adopts either or both of these funding sources to establish a development corporation to administer and oversee the expenditure of the sales tax proceeds. A board of directors, whose members are appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the city's governing body, oversees the development corporation. A city must deliver sales tax receipts derived from the sales tax for economic development to the EDC upon receipt of the funds from the Comptroller's office. The corporation's board of directors is responsible for all decisions regarding the use of these revenues and the projects undertaken. However, the city council retains final oversight authority and must approve of all programs and expenditures of the corporation.

Exhibit 2 illustrates the relative importance of various revenue sources for Type A corporations by city size as a percentage of total corporation revenue. Sales taxes receipts decreased in significance from fiscal 2010 to fiscal 2011 in all cities size categories except those with populations of 15,001-30,000 and greater than 75,000. Most of the difference is attributable to an increase in revenue from debt instruments for cities with populations of less than 15,000 and between 30,001 and 75,000; while cities with populations between 15,001-30,000 and greater than 75,000 reduced their reliance on revenue from issuing debt.

Other Revenue continues to be an important source of funds for Type A corporations. However, there is significant variance between the population categories and fiscal years. For example, cities with populations of 5,000 or less significantly increased their reliance on Other Revenue from 13.7 percent in fiscal 2010 to 19.4 percent in fiscal 2011. On the other hand, cities with populations between 5,001 and 15,000 sharply decreased their reliance on this revenue source from 15.2 percent of revenues to 6.4 percent from fiscal 2010 to fiscal 2011, respectively.

Exhibit 3 shows revenue sources for Type B corporations as a percentage of total revenue, again by city size. From fiscal 2010 to fiscal 2011, the share of total revenues attributable to sales taxes decreased in all city size categories except those cities with populations of 15,001 – 30,000, which experienced an increase of 7.4 percent. The difference appears to be the direct result of a sharp decrease in Bond Proceeds/Loans Obtained for cities in this category, which fell from 11.8 percent of total receipts to 3.9 percent.

Expenditures

The 689 Type A and Type B corporations reported expenditures of $700.5 million in fiscal 2010 (Appendix H and Exhibit 4). Expenditures reported by the 697 corporations in fiscal 2011 increased by more than 5 percent to $735.7 million. (Appendix I and Exhibit 4).

All corporations combined and Type A and Type B corporations separately reported increases in expenditures for Direct Business Incentives, Job Training and Other from fiscal 2010 to fiscal 2011. There was a divergence between Type A and Type B corporations in the trends for each of the remaining expenditure categories. For example, Type A corporations

Corporation Fiscal Year

Most corporations reporting in fiscal 2011 adopted a fiscal year corresponding to that of their sponsoring city. A total of 601, or 86 percent, of the corporations listed Oct. 1 through Sept. 30 as the corporation's fiscal year. Twenty-five or 3.5 percent listed the calendar year of Jan. 1 through Dec. 31 as their fiscal year and 19, or 2.7 percent, listed July 1 through June 30. Fifty-two corporations adopted other fiscal years, accounting for the remaining 7.5 percent.

reduced their expenditures for Personnel by $719,332 and outlays for Administration by $267,747. On the other hand, Type B corporations increased expenditures in these categories by $4.3 million and $844,743, respectively.

It is often more useful to examine expenditure categories as a percentage of total expenditures to more easily observe which categories are increasing or decreasing in relation to one another. As presented in Exhibit 5, Type A corporations expend a much larger percentage of their total expenditures on Direct Business Incentives than Type B corporations. In fiscal 2010 and 2011, the difference was 23.9 percent and 26.4 percent, respectively. On the other hand, Type B corporations spend a significantly larger percentage of expenditures on Payments to Taxing Units compared to Type A corporations. The margin in this category favored Type B corporations by 7.9 percent in fiscal 2010, narrowing to 5.7 percent in fiscal 2011.

Debt service and Capital Costs were significant expenditure categories for both Type A and Type B corporations. For Type A corporations these two categories combined to account for 43.8 percent of total expenditures in fiscal 2010 and 36.5 percent of expenditures in fiscal 2011. For Type B corporations the percentages were higher. Debt service and Capital Costs cumulatively totaled 54.7 percent of Type B expenditures in fiscal 2010 and 53.2 percent of expenditures in fiscal 2011.

State law caps Marketing and Promotional expenditures by both Type A and Type B corporations at 10 percent of a corporation's annual revenues, except under certain circumstances. The limit is 25 percent of revenues for a Type A city:

- that has municipal limits including two counties;
- that has less than 24,250 residents, according to the 1990 federal census; and
- that is located within 10 miles of a federal military reservation.

The reports for fiscal 2010 indicate that 22 of the 219 Type A corporations spent more than 10 percent of their revenues for Marketing and Promotion. Eight of the 22 corporations exceeded 20 percent. Of the 470 Type B corporations reporting in fiscal 2010, 57 exceeded the 10 percent threshold and 22 exceeded 20 percent of revenues (Appendix J).

In fiscal 2011, 22 of the 216 Type A corporations reported expenses over the 10 percent cap, with 10 exceeding 20 percent. For the 481 Type B corporations reporting that year, 53 exceeded the 10 percent limit, with 21 exceeding 20 percent.

While most Type A and Type B corporations appear to be in compliance with the limitation on marketing and promotional expenses, the act does not require a corporation to prove that it qualifies for an exception to the statute. Nor does the law provide any penalty for those that exceed the limit. It also should be noted that some corporations exceeding the statutory limit may have carried forward unused revenues budgeted for marketing and promotion from previous fiscal years. Attorney General Opinion GA-0086 (2003) states that "a corporation that chooses to spend revenues for promotional purposes may spend up to 10 percent of its annual revenues for that purpose or may set all or some of these funds aside in a promotional purposes account. A corporation that sets aside revenues in such an account could spend those past year revenues along with the allowable percentage of its current annual revenues for promotional purposes without violating the cap."

2011 Legislative Changes

There were few changes to the Development Corporation Act of 1979 during the 2011 Legislature. Two bills were adopted affecting the operations of economic development corporations.

HB 479 Authorizes the Board of Directors of a Type A or Type B corporation located in a municipality with a population less than 30,000 to hold their board meetings within the boundaries of the county. Prior law required that meetings be held within the city-limits of the authorizing municipality.

HB 3302 Allows the governing body of cities with populations of 7,500 or less with both Type A and Type B corporations to pass an ordinance authorizing Type A corporations to act as Type B corporations and undertake a wider range of civic and commercial projects. The municipality may subsequently revoke the authority of Type A corporations to undertake the broader Type B corporation activities. However, any ordinance passed to revoke the authority to undertake Type B activities does not affect the authority of a corporation to complete an existing project or repay any debt incurred in connection with a previously authorized project.

For more information about the authority and responsibilities of Type A and Type B corporations, refer to the Comptroller's office publication #96-302, Economic Development Sales Tax, which is available at <<http://www.texasahead.org/lga/96-302.pdf>>. Or contact the Comptroller's office Economic Development and Analysis Division at (512) 463-4679.

The percentage of funds expended by Type A and Type B corporations by category varied significantly among cities of different sizes in fiscal 2010 and fiscal 2011 (Exhibits 6 and 7).

Both Type A and Type B corporations generally outlay a relatively lower percentage of expenditures for Personnel and Administration as city size increases. This is likely the result of the increased administrative efficiency of the larger organizations.

The percentage spent on Direct Business Incentives is higher for Type A corporations than for Type B corporations. In fact, Type A corporations reported spending a higher percentage of total expenditures on Direct Business Incentive than Type B corporations in all city population categories during both fiscal years.

Type A and Type B corporations diverged regarding expenditures for Capital Costs and Debt Service by city population. Type B corporations exceeded Type A corporations in Debt Service expenditures as a percentage of total expenditures in both fiscal years in each city population category, except those cities with populations of 0-5,000 and 30,001-75,000.

There also was a split when it came to expenditures for Capital Costs. Type B corporations outspent Type A corporations among cities with populations of 0-5,000, 30,000-75,000 and greater than 75,000 in both fiscal years. On the other hand, Type A corporations led in this expenditure category among cities with populations from 5,001-15,000 and 15,001-30,000 during both fiscal years.

Primary Economic Development Objectives

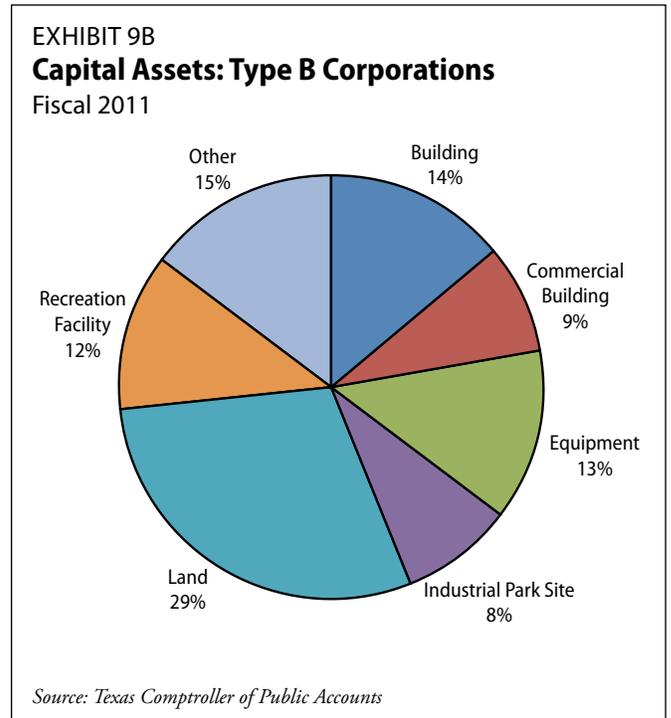

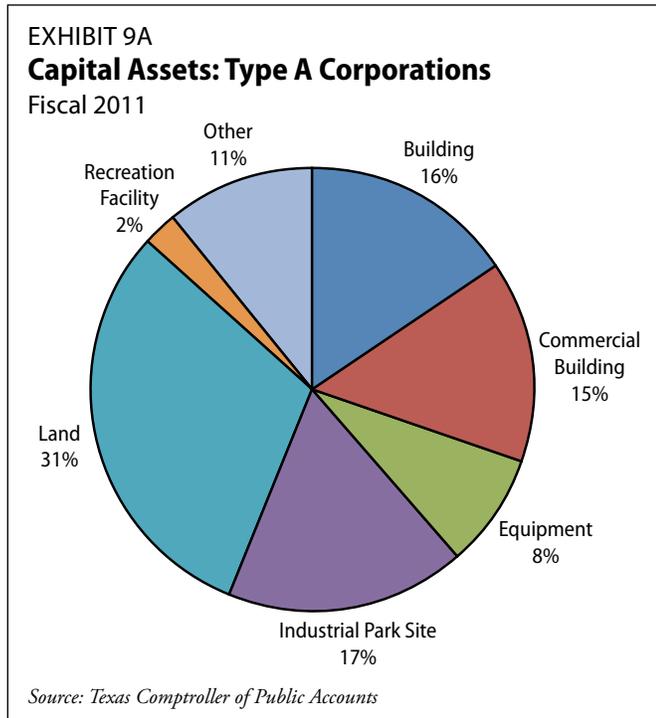

In fiscal 2010 and 2011, most corporations listed more than one primary economic development objective (Appendix C). Job Creation/Job Retention was the preferred activity by both Type A and Type B corporations, followed closely by Infrastructure Projects. Sports Facilities/Recreation and Tourism were popular third and fourth choices for Type B corporations, while relatively few Type A corporations selected these categories. (Exhibit 8).

Types of Capital Assets

Capital assets for fiscal 2010 and 2011 are found in Appendix D and Appendix E. Of the 697 corporations, 515 reported capital assets in fiscal 2011. The most common capital asset was “Land,” including both acreage and lots, reported by 301 corporations. Other capital assets included “Buildings” (147), “Other” (132), “Industrial Parks/Sites” (120), “Equipment” (113), “Commercial Buildings” (110), and “Recreational Facilities” (83). The total number of reported assets exceeded the total number of corporations because many reported owning more than one asset type.

There was a significant difference between the percentage of Type A and Type B corporations reporting capital assets. In fiscal 2011, 176 or 81.5 percent of the 216 Type A corporations reported owning capital assets, compared to 339 or 70.5 percent of the 481 Type B corporations. This disparity could be the result of some Type B corporations expending funds for assets that are transferred to the city upon completion, such as park-related projects. In those cases, the capital asset would no longer belong to the corporation, but would become a capital asset of the city.

Exhibits 9a and 9b show the assets owned by the two types of corporations in fiscal 2011. A comparison between the charts shows the relative differences between the types of assets owned by Type A and Type B corporations. The largest disparity is found in categories pertaining to the ownership of real property. Ownership of “Industrial Parks/Sites” was much more common among Type A corporations, with 17 percent reporting ownership of this asset class compared to only 8 percent for Type B corporations. Type A corporations also had a greater percentage in the categories of “Land,” “Commercial Buildings” and “Buildings” than Type B corporations.

Corporation Fund Balances

Beginning in fiscal 2006, the Comptroller requested that each corporation report their year-end unrestricted fund balance or unrestricted retained earnings. (Appendix K). These are the funds that have not been formally designated by the board of directors for a project cost or other expenditure during the fiscal year. Fund balances may carry over from year to year.

In fiscal 2010, 214 Type A corporations reported fund balances totaling $372.2 million. The total decreased to $366.9 million for the 208 Type A corporations reporting fund balances in fiscal 2011.

There were 454 Type B corporations reporting fund balances in fiscal 2010. Together they reported fund balances of more than $410.4 million. For fiscal 2011, 465 Type B corporations recorded year-end fund balances totaling $439.6 million.

Combined, Type A and Type B corporations reported fund balances totaling nearly $806.5 million at the end of fiscal 2011.

Growth of the Sales Tax for Economic Development

As many Texas cities reach the two percent local sales tax cap, growth in the number of new Type A and Type B corporations has slowed. Exhibit 10 shows how the number of corporations has changed since 1997.

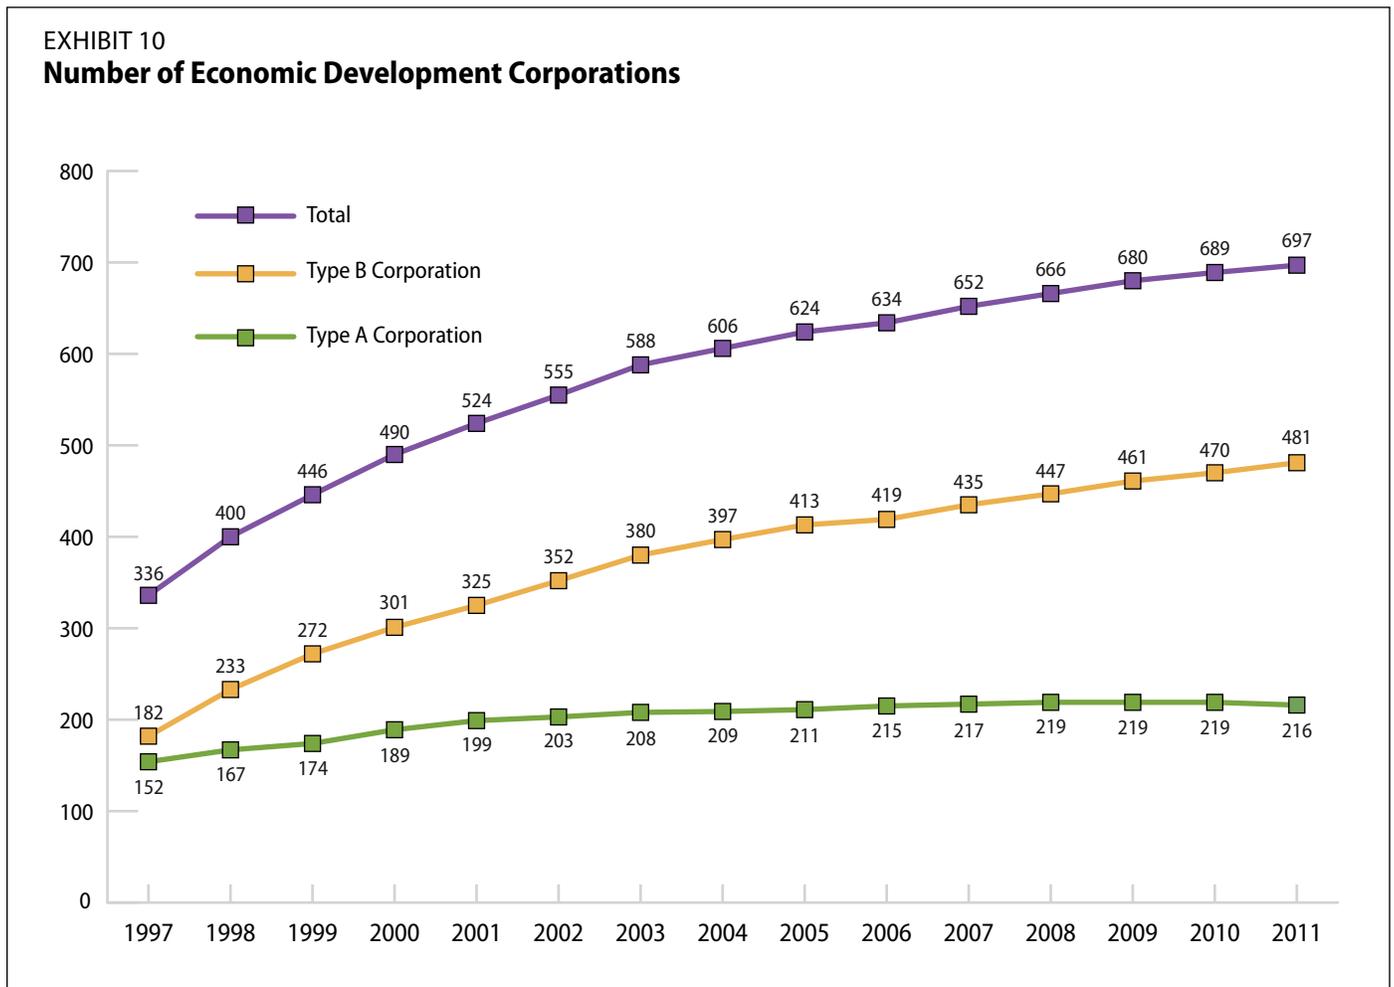

In fiscal 2008 and fiscal 2009 the number of corporations increased by 14 per year. Between fiscal 2010 and 2011 the total number of corporations increased by a net of eight, despite the creation of eleven new Type B corporations. The shortfall was the result of a net loss of three Type A corporations. This is the first biennium that experienced a net decrease in the number of either Type A or Type B corporations.

One factor affecting the rate of increase in the number of Type A and Type B corporations is competition from other types of sales tax. Sales tax ballot initiatives may take place up to twice per year if initiated by either a city council or upon a successful petition by registered voters in a community. The result may be the abolition of any local sales tax to reduce the local tax burden or to impose a different type of local sales taxes.

For example, in fiscal 2010 voters in Aspermont reduced their Type A sales tax to impose a 0.25 percent sales tax for Street Maintenance and Repair. Similarly in fiscal 2011, voters in Rio Hondo abolished their Type A sales tax to impose a 0.25 percent sales tax for Street Maintenance and Repair and a 0.25 percent sales tax to fund a Municipal Development District.

By the end of fiscal 2011, 361 Texas cities had adopted the sales tax for property tax relief, and 181 cities had adopted the sales tax for street maintenance and repair.
