INTRODUCTION

The Guadalupe Appraisal District (G.A.D.) has prepared this Written Reappraisal Plan as required under Section 6.05 (i) of the Texas Tax Code "to ensure adherence with generally accepted appraisal practices." This report is aimed to provide the property owners and the taxing entities with a complete understanding of the responsibilities and obligations of the G.A.D.

The G.A.D. is a political subdivision of the State of Texas created to appraise all of the taxable property within its jurisdictions at 100% market value as of January 1st of each year. The creation of the appraisal district was passed with the 66th Legislative Session in 1979, approved by the voters in the November 1980 general election. This legislation mandated taxing units to participate in an appraisal district.

The G.A.D. is governed by the provisions contained in the Texas Tax Code, relative to legal, statutory, and administrative requirements.

The G.A.D. has a five member Board of Directors that are elected by the entities it serves. This five member Board of Directors appoints the Chief Appraiser, and is the chief administrator, and executive officer of the appraisal district. The Board of Directors serve for a two year term, and typically the directorship begins January 1st and ends December 31st.

The G.A.D. is responsible for conducting the appraisals to be used by the 22 taxing units it serves for the current year. The number of taxing units served by the G.A.D. has increased, due to implementation of HB1010 in the 80th Texas Legislature, amending §6 (a.) of the Texas Tax Code, and repeals §6.025 of the Texas Tax Code. Implemented, HB 1010 makes the County line the appraisal district line. This legislation has increased the Guadalupe Appraisal District responsibility in appraisal and maintenance of these areas. The G.A.D. budget is funded by 22 taxing entities as of the date of the written reappraisal plan. The funding received is calculated pro-rata according to the levy generated. It is thought that additional municipalities may become active taxing units in future years, specifically the City of Staples, City of Martindale, and the City of New Berlin. If these municipalities become taxing units in Guadalupe County, the G.A.D. will be responsible for the appraisals for these taxing units, and will be incorporated into the G.A.D. allocation and budget cycle. As of the 2014 certification, the district was responsible for appraising 84,929 parcels in total.

Except as otherwise outlined in the Texas Tax Code, all taxable property is appraised at its "market value" as of January 1st. Market value as defined by the Texas Tax Code means the price at which a property would transfer for cash or its equivalent under prevailing market conditions if:

- Exposed for sale in the open market with a reasonable time for the seller to find a buyer.
- Both the seller and the buyer know of all the property uses and purposes to which the property is adapted and for which it is capable or being used for and of any enforceable restrictions on the use of the property
- Both the seller and the buyer seek to maximize their gains and neither is in a position to take advantage of situations of the other.

Section 23 of the Texas Tax Code defines special appraisal provisions for valuation of residential homestead properties (§23.23), which is referred to as the residential homestead cap. In addition, the 81st Legislative Session added HB 3613, relating to the determination of the market value of a residence homestead for ad-valorem tax purposes on the basis of the property's value as a residence homestead, in situations where the highest and best use of the homestead property is that other than a residence homestead, such as a commercial or industrial use. As well, §23 addresses special appraisal provisions for productivity (§23.41), real property inventory (§23.12), and dealer inventory (§23.121, 23.124, 23.1241 and 23.127), nominal (§23.18), restricted use properties (§23.83), and allocation of interstate property (§23.03). The owners of inventory may elect to have the inventory appraised at its market value as of September 1st of the year proceeding the tax year to which the appraisal applies by making an application with the Chief Appraiser.

In addition §23.01 (c) of the Texas Tax Code indicates that the "chief appraiser may not exclude from consideration the value of other residential property that is in the same neighborhood as the residence homestead being appraised and would otherwise be considered in appraising the residence homestead because the other residential property:

- (1) was sold at a foreclosure sale conducted in any of the three years preceding the tax year in which the residence homestead is being appraised and was comparable at the time of sale based on relevant characteristics with other residence homesteads in the same neighborhood; or
- (2) has a market value that has declined because of a declining economy.

As well, §23.01 of the Texas Tax Code,

Appraisals generally (b) states:

“The market value of property shall be determined by the application of generally accepted appraisal methods and techniques. If the appraisal district determines the appraised value of a property using mass appraisal standards, the mass appraisal standards must comply with the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (U.S.P.A.P.). The same or similar appraisal methods and techniques shall be used in appraising the same or similar kinds of property. However, each property shall be appraised based upon the individual characteristics that affect the property’s market value, and all available evidence that is specific to the value of the property shall be taken into account in determining the property’s market value.”

Reference to a specific work plan contained herein is to be considered tentative plans for the District at this time. The work plan assumptions are made with the understanding that there are no natural disasters, a drastic reduction in designated Property Tax Professionals or new legislative requirements that will require the District to reallocate available resources necessary to complete the normal work plan to address these possible high priority areas.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

TEXAS TAX CODE REQUIREMENT

Passage of S.B. 1652 amended the Texas Tax Code to require a written biennial reappraisal plan. The following details this section of the Texas Tax Code:

The Written Plan

§6.05, Texas Tax Code, is amended by adding Subsection (i) to read as follows:

- (i) To ensure adherence with generally accepted appraisal practices, the Board of Directors of an appraisal district shall develop biennially a written plan for the periodic reappraisal of all property within the boundaries of the district according to the requirements of §25.18 and shall hold a public hearing to consider the proposed plan. Not later than the 10th day before the date of the hearing, the secretary of the board shall deliver to the presiding officer of the governing body of each taxing unit participating in the district a written notice of the date, time, and place of the hearing. Not later than September 15 of each even numbered year, the board shall complete its hearings, make any amendments, and by resolution finally approve the plan. Copies of the approved plan shall be distributed to the presiding officer of the governing body of each taxing unit participating in the district and to the comptroller within 60 days of the approval date.

Plan for Periodic Reappraisal

Subsections (a) and (b) of §25.18, Texas Tax Code, are provided here for convenience and amended to read as follows:

- (a) Each appraisal office shall implement the plan for periodic reappraisal of property approved by the board of directors under Section 6.05(i).
- (b) The plan shall provide for the following reappraisal activities for all real and personal property in the district at least once every three years:

- (1) Identifying properties to be appraised through physical inspection or by other reliable means of identification, including deeds or other legal documentation, aerial photographs, land-based photographs, surveys, maps, and property sketches;
- (2) Identifying and updating relevant characteristics of each property in the appraisal records;
- (3) Defining market areas in the district;
- (4) Identifying property characteristics that affect property value in each market area, including:
 - (A) The location and market area of the property;
 - (B) Physical attributes of each property, such as size, age, and condition;
 - (C) Legal and economic attributes; and
 - (D) Easements, covenants, leases, reservations, contracts, declarations, special assessments, ordinances, or legal restrictions;
- (5) Developing an appraisal model that reflects the relationship among the property characteristics affecting value in each market area and determines the contribution of individual property characteristics;
- (6) Applying the conclusions reflected in the model to the characteristics of the properties being appraised; and
- (7) Reviewing the appraisal results to determine value.

I.) Identifying properties to be reappraised for the purpose of updating relevant characteristics:
(DISCOVERY)

A. Residential/Commercial Property

The appraisal district will continue to implement several means to identify properties that require inspection for the purpose of updating relevant property characteristics. One source of information that is used to identify those properties is building permits issued by the cities located within the district and septic permits issued by the Health and Sanitation Department of Guadalupe County. Copies of these permits are collected continuously and matched with the corresponding appraisal district account to flag for inspection. Other sources of identifying properties that are in need of re-inspection are, on site field inspections, aerial photography inspections, new and existing subdivisions in the district, driveway permits issued by Guadalupe County, mechanics liens, information included in sales listing, realtor reports, deeds of trusts, the property owner themselves, reports of recently assigned 911 addresses, fee appraisers and in some instances neighbors or other individuals familiar with the property.

In addition, the ability to obtain current aerial photography has been a valuable tool of discovery. Aerial photography has been used as a tool in identifying improvements that are not currently accounted for and that will need to be added to the appraisal roll as omitted properties in the district. The identification of missing improvements has been accomplished by first conducting an office review of the aerial photograph. During this process, the reviewer individually reviews each of the structures within the area, and correspond the sited structures with what is recorded on the appraisal card, in search of properties not recorded on the appraisal roll. When this type of review is conducted, accounts may be "flagged" for an onsite field inspection if the reviewer determines that structures or other improvements are present on the aerial photo, however, can not be accurately appraised unless a field inspection is made. Conversely, an appraiser may determine that ample information is available from the aerial compiled with alternate sources to accurately appraise the subject property, and therefore may update the appraisal record for the property with the structures. Properties that are flagged for a field inspection will be maintained in a paperless workflow process, sorted by geographic region, and assigned by market area/region.

In addition to the above noted process which generates reappraisal activities, the District will implement an aerial sweep project by clusters of market area regions for real property. This sweep will be based on the last field inspection years being less than or equal to 2010 for 2015 and 2016. Cluster A will be swept for 2015 and Cluster B will be swept for 2016. A "sweep" is an aerial inspection of each property within the district for the purpose of updating the appraisal record of each property. The scheduled sweep for the 2015/2016 written reappraisal plan will begin immediately after the certification processes. This review will be conducted to update relevant property characteristics. Refer to the following location on server shared file for a current status of inspections of aerial sweep project: S:\JIM F\LAST INSPECTION. Specifically, Cluster A will be made up of the current market areas defined as Geos 4 & 5. In detail, Cluster A will include a total of 5,155 parcels for the sweep project. Cluster B will comprise the current market areas defined as Geos 20, 21, 22E, and 22W. Cluster B will include a total of 5,835 parcels for the sweep project. See Exhibit A for scope of work as related to this sweep project. Exhibit A1 identifies the Geo market areas across the District that are used for the sweep project as well as the defined rural land market areas.

In addition, from the Commercial aspect, a three year rotation is currently functional to update the last inspection date. For the 2015 year, a sweep will be performed where the last inspection date is later than the 2012 year for Category B and F. See Exhibit B for the scope of work related to this project. For the 2016 year, the sweep for Commercial will encompass parcels where the last inspection date is later than the 2013 year for Category B and F. See Exhibit C for the scope of work related to this project. Finally, for the 2015 and 2016 reappraisal plan, the Commercial Department will collect and review income and expense data for Office Buildings and Mini-Warehouses for the 2015 and 2016 reappraisal activities as related to possible conversion and implementation to an income valuation methodology.

Similarly, Category A, B, E & F are annually reappraised from a statistical standpoint to ensure that sales occurring within the District are within the acceptable tolerances. If the appraised values in this category do not fall within the acceptable tolerances adjustments are implemented to ensure acceptable results, as related to confirmed sales data.

As of August 11, 2014 the District has identified 1,357 real parcels that have been flagged from the normal reappraisal-discovery process requiring an inspection for the January 1, 2015 year, this includes all categories of properties. These flagged accounts are mostly in the rural areas, and tract style subdivisions of the District. These accounts have been flagged by various methods through all of the above noted sources and tools of discovery. This identification process will be continuous, and will yield additional field inspections, as the year moves forward. Due to this fact, the listing of accounts may be run in the District database as follows: Activities-Appraisal Cards-Print User Defined and insert date of 01012015-12312015 to yield the most up to date appraisal cards for this. Additionally, developing generally residential subdivisions have been identified that are inspected every year for new structures. See Exhibit D for the scope of work related to this project.

B. Rural, Residential and Commercial Land

Characteristics that influence land values are primarily flood plain, zoning, road frontage (lack of or excessive frontage given size of parcel), and easements such as pipeline, transmission line, access and electrical easements. In addition, a land parcel's size and shape are value influencing characteristics as well. Documents such as deeds, zoning and flood plain maps, and plats will be reviewed and proper adjustments will be made to account for the presence of such characteristics, as time allows. Aerial photography, conversations with property owners and other public documents will also be collected and reviewed.

The previously noted real property sweep project will include rural land and residential parcels. The Commercial parcels are on a three year rotation process, as previously discussed in this publication. This may be done either by way of an aerial inspection and or a traditional field inspection.

Similarly, Category C, D & E are annually reappraised from a statistical standpoint to ensure that proposed values coincide according to acceptable tolerances with available market data occurring within the District.

C. Non-Industrial Business Personal Property (B.P.P.)

Identification of new BPP properties is accomplished by field inspections as well as with the annual rendition process, commercial building permits, D.B.A. filings with the county clerk's office, commercial vehicle listings supplied through a third party vendor and monthly and annual vehicle declarations submitted by local vehicle dealers, review of General Distinguishing Number listings, review of listings from the Texas Parks and Wildlife, as well as listing from the F.A.A. or third party vendors for aircraft in the district and field inspections performed. Also, as commercial property is sold, this is also a tool to flag properties for inspection.

The appraisal district personnel reviews local publications for notices of grand openings as well as business advertisements published in local newspapers and within the yellow pages of the phone directories. In addition, the district will make field inspections of areas for identification of new business personal property accounts. As well, the District will employ the use of aerial photography to identify new commercial business in the market area.

The District will implement a sweep project, based for this category of properties that represent the top 3% of accounts from a value standpoint in the District overall for each year during 2015 and 2016. Additionally, the District will research, develop and implement business personal property schedules for the 2015 and 2016 reappraisal effort that can be applied to both rendered and non-rendered business personal property parcels. For the 2015 year, the SIC codes of 5921, 5992, 7215, and 7232 will have functional schedule development, see Exhibit G for the scope of reappraisal project. For the 2016 year, the SIC code of 8351, 7231, and 7542 will have functional schedule development, see Exhibit G for the scope of the reappraisal project. Finally, project development for Business Personal Property Project for updated inspection date on parcels that have not rendered in the prior three years and not field inspected for the prior three years will be the focus for both the 2015 and 2016 reappraisal effort. See Exhibit H for the scope of work related to this project.

D. Utility, Railroad and Pipeline Property

Appraisal of properties is limited to those indicated in the contract with the appraisal district, unless additionally requested by the appraisal district. Newly discovered properties will be discussed with the appraisal district to confirm they are to be appraised by Capital Appraisal. Utility, railroad and pipeline properties that are susceptible to inspection are identified by inspection. The appraiser may also refer to other documents, both public and also confidential to assist in identification of these properties. Due to the varied nature of utility, railroad, and pipeline properties there is no standard data collection form or manual. New permitting documents on record with the Railroad Commission of Texas provide a source to identify potential new pipeline projects but does not provide indication if the project was actually started, completed, or a distinct location of the proposed project. Every effort is made to discover new utility, railroad, and pipeline properties through personal observation combined with permitting documents. See Exhibit I for detail scope of accounts for reappraisal, and associated timeline for reappraisal.

E. Industrial Real Property

Appraisal of properties is limited to those indicated in the contract with the appraisal district, unless additionally requested by the appraisal district. Newly discovered properties will be discussed with the appraisal district to confirm they are to be appraised by Capitol Appraisal. Industrial properties are identified as part of the appraiser's physical inspection process each year and through submitted data by the property owner. The appraiser may also refer to legal documents, photography and other descriptive items. See Exhibit I for detail scope of accounts for reappraisal, and associated timeline for reappraisal.

F. Industrial Personal Property

Appraisal of properties is limited to those indicated in the contract with the appraisal district, unless additionally requested by the appraisal district. Newly discovered properties will be discussed with the appraisal district to confirm they are to be appraised by Capitol Appraisal. Through inspection the appraiser identifies personal property to be appraised. The appraiser begins with properties from the previous tax year and identifies new properties from visual identification and/or publications, newspaper articles, or information obtained through the interview of property owners. The appraiser may also refer to other documents, both public and also confidential, to assist in identification of these properties. Such documents might include but are not limited to the previous year's appraisal roll, vehicle listing services and private directories. See Exhibit I for detail scope of accounts for reappraisal, and associated timeline for reappraisal.

G. Oil and Gas Property

As subsurface mineral properties lie within the earth, they cannot be physically identified by inspection like other real property. However, the inability to directly inspect does not appreciably affect the ability to identify and appraise these properties. To identify new properties, CAGL obtains monthly oil and gas lease information from the Railroad Commission of Texas [RRC] to compare against oil and gas properties already identified. The situs of new properties is determined using plats and W-2/G-1 records from the RRC, as well as CAGL's in-house map resources. See Exhibit J for detail scope of accounts for reappraisal, and associated timeline for reappraisal.

II.) Identifying and Updating Relevant Characteristics:
(DATA COLLECTION)

A. Residential/Commercial Property

Identifying and updating relevant characteristics of a property will be accomplished primarily through an aerial or traditional field inspection of the property. The inspecting appraiser shall view the latest aerial photograph acquired by the District of the subject property to collect relevant data about the property such as measurements of structures, construction quality of structures and physical deterioration, among other characteristics that may impact the market value of the subject property. The collected data is gathered by the inspecting appraiser, noted on field inspection sheets, analyzed and checked for accuracy and then submitted to the data entry department for processing. On a limited scope, appraisal staff may complete some data entry which is at their discretion. An ongoing Quality Control Project is functional to ensure proper training issues are addressed. Personnel within the data entry department will then update the electronic records of the property according to the information and data noted on the field inspection sheet by the appraiser. If the inspecting appraiser determines that there is not enough information to make an informed decision on the relevant property characteristics, then the appraiser will flag the property for a field inspection. Once this inspection is complete, the appraiser will have acquired the data to update the subject property. Upon field inspecting the property, the appraiser shall be guided by the established Guadalupe Appraisal District field inspection guidelines, which are routinely reviewed with appraisal staff at the onset of the field inspection process.

The appraiser will identify and update relevant characteristics acquired during the inspection process. In this process, the appraiser shall review state code classification, any extraordinary depreciation that may be required, renditions, realtor, or fee appraisal reports, sic codes, region codes, neighborhood codes, building permits, sales data, property use codes, classification, construction type and quality, municipal zoning as related to the development of a parcel, flood zone, as well as any identifiable attributes known as related to the interior of the parcel. Upon completion of updating relevant parcel characteristics, administrative quality control procedures are implemented for accuracy of entry of data.

B. Rural, Commercial & Platted Residential Land

Identification of specific characteristics will be accomplished, but not limited to, review of relevant documents or through field inspections. Aerial photography and the integration of the G.I.S. parcel base map with any and all layers of additional information gathered and integrated will prove helpful in identification of tracts that have unique characteristics that can be identified by an aerial observation. Characteristics that may be identified and accounted for from these observations and integration of technology may be, but not limited to areas of flood plain, road frontages, corner locations, easement access, shape, zoning and the like. If identified, adjustments may be warranted, and shall be validated with notations on the electronic record for the future. The reviewing appraiser will document necessary information and either update the electronic records of the subject property as necessary through a mass update process (if the adjustments impact a number of properties) or submit the changes required to the data entry department in which case personnel within the data entry department will update the electronic record of the subject property. Upon completion of updating relevant parcel characteristics, administrative quality control procedures are implemented for accuracy of entry of data.

C. Business Personal Property (non-industrial)

The primary source of data for updating relevant characteristics of the business personal property parcels shall be through rendition information, and through the traditional field inspection process. This data is verified and cross referenced through previously existing confidential records and through various forms of public information attainable for businesses. Once characteristics that have been identified that impact the market value of the subject property, the appraiser shall make notations of such on the appraisal card, and either update the subject property with the noted information, or route the appraisal card with notations to data entry for updating the subject property.

D. Utility, Railroad & Pipeline Property

The appraiser identifies and updates relevant characteristics through data collected as part of the inspection process and through later submissions by the property owner, sometimes including confidential rendition. Additional data are obtained through public sources, regulatory reports and through analysis of comparable properties.

E. Industrial Real Property

The appraiser identifies and updates relevant characteristics through the inspection process. Confidential rendition, assets lists and other confidential data also provide additional information. Subject property data is verified through previously existing records and through published reports.

F. Industrial Personal Property

Data identifying and updating relevant characteristics of the subject properties are collected as part of the inspection process through directories and listing services as well as through later submissions by the property owner, sometimes including confidential rendition. These data are verified through previously existing records and through public reports.

G. Oil & Gas Property

Relevant characteristics necessary to estimate value of remaining oil or gas reserves are production volume and pattern, product prices, expenses borne by the operator of the property, and the rate at which the anticipated future income should be discounted to incorporate future risk. CAGL obtains information to update these characteristics annually from regulatory agencies such as the RRC, the Comptroller of Public Accounts, submissions from property owners and operators, as well as from published investment reports, licensed data services, service for fee organizations and through comparable properties, when available

III.) Defining market areas in the district:
(MARKET AREA/NEIGHBORHOOD DELINIATION)

A. Residential/Commercial Property

When defining a market area for residential properties, the total boundaries of the appraisal district can be considered one market. Further analysis will reveal that within the total market, submarkets exist as well. These submarkets can be defined as any group of properties that share common traits such as physical, economic, governmental and social forces, all of which equally and consistently influence the value of each property within the given area. Generally speaking, these submarkets are more easily identified within the more densely populated areas of the district and are often referred to as neighborhoods.

Within the more densely populated areas of the district, neighborhoods are identified by different means. In developed more homogeneous areas of the district, a neighborhood can be defined as the boundary of a platted subdivision. In less homogeneous areas of the district, a neighborhood can be defined by factors such as age and quality of the homes and proximity and exposure to major thoroughfares. Whichever the case, mass adjustments made to the appraisal of properties within a defined neighborhood or market area are consistently and equally applied to each property within the defined neighborhood, based on the annual review of market data available in these neighborhoods or market areas. Currently, the District evaluates as one market area residential categories across the District, and then refines the analysis and evaluations by neighborhoods.

B. Rural, Commercial & Platted Residential Land-

Market areas for land are defined by the highest and best use of the land, with the exception of those outlined in §23 of the Texas Tax Code. Generally speaking, buyers and sellers of land within an industrial subdivision will determine asking and bidding process based upon an industrial use of the land. Likewise, it is the same situation for land within a residential subdivision or rural land. As previously mentioned, the 81st Legislative Session produced HB 3613, which indicates that property under a homestead exemption shall be valued from an ad-valorem standpoint as residential property, even in the case where the subject property's highest and best use is commercial in nature, which is a jurisdictional exception implemented by the District, since this legislation became effective.

However, some of the areas in the district are undergoing a change in the highest and best use of the land, particularly rural land that is close in proximity to growing cities, such as the City of Cibola, the City of Schertz, City of New Braunfels, and the City of Seguin. The district will closely monitor these areas in order to identify any market area changes that are occurring in order to accurately group these parcels to reflect the value as of the January 1st appraisal date. In these areas, the highest and best use of land is changing from a farm and ranch use to a use of residential, commercial, and or industrial.

In areas undergoing a change in the highest and best use, collected market activity will be closely evaluated and scrutinized for changes in values of not only the parcels that have been sold, but also any land that is within the entire market area. During the evaluation process, if there are changes that are required, the market values within the market area will all be adjusted accordingly, based upon confirmed and validated market activity, applicable to the entire market area.

When defining a market area for rural, commercial, and platted residential lots, the total boundaries of the appraisal district are normally considered as the main market area. Again, with further analysis submarkets will be apparent. Submarkets will be defined as any grouping of properties that have commonly identified characteristics, which consistently influence the value of each property within a given area. These submarkets for rural land take on and are identified by the District as "Geographic Area", or "GEOS". The District has 29 different geographic regions identified. Geographic regions with similar make up and information may be consolidated for analysis purposes in the event the market data is sparse, which is typically the case. Market areas for commercial properties are identified in the more densely populated areas and or locations usually identified by locations on major thoroughfares, which are considered strategically for economic and commerce decisions. Market areas for platted residential land normally take on the boundaries of the platted subdivision itself. In some instances, similarly situated subdivisions may be used as comparable market areas or as competing subdivisions if market data is sparse.

To elaborate on the geographically defined areas in the Guadalupe Appraisal District, folded in are documents, attached as Exhibit A to define specifically these 29 geographic regions in the District. This report documents the degree and type of development, soil type and vegetation, and market influences and possible future development. Additionally, commercial property, or income producing property may have markets that are subdivided by location, which in turn may be directly related to the income potential of that property, such as Hotels/Motels, and Apartments. Folded into Exhibit B is an outline of market areas for commercial structures developed at this time, which is effectively the 2014 Commercial Department report.

C. Business Personal Property (non-industrial)-

When defining a market area for business personal property, the boundary of the appraisal district may be considered one market area. When unique situations arise, the market area may be widened to the regional or state level and is justified. The market for business personal property is determined by the design and use of the property in question, thus the type of business that the property can be used within will determine the buyers and sellers of the property.

D. Utility, Railroad & Pipeline Property

Market areas for utility, railroad and pipeline property tend to be regional or national in scope. Financial analyst and investor services reports are used to help define market areas.

E. Industrial Real Property

Market areas for industrial properties tend to be regional, national and sometimes international. Published information such as prices, financial analysis and investor services reports are used to help define market area.

F. Industrial Personal Property

Market areas for industrial personal property are generally either regional or national in scope. Published price sources are used to help define market areas.

G. Oil & Gas Property

Oil and gas markets are regional, national and international. Therefore they respond to market forces beyond defined market boundaries as observed among more typical real properties.

IV.) Appraisal Model: (APPROACH TO VALUE)

A. Residential Property

Residential Land

Residential land is appraised as though vacant using the market/sales approach as the appraisal model for valuation. The value of the land component of the total property appraisal is extracted based on available market sales for comparable and competing land under similar usage. A comparison and analysis of comparable land sales is conducted based on a comparison of land characteristics found to influence the market value of land located in the market area or neighborhood. When necessary, the land appraisal is adjusted for specific factors and conditions that influence the value of the land. These adjustments may include conditions of access, shape, and or size. When necessary, abstraction and allocation methods will be used to ensure that estimated land values reflect the contributory market value of the land to the overall property value.

Single-Family Residences

Appraisals for single-family residences are derived by using the market/sales approach as the model for valuation. The master residential valuation schedule is annually calibrated by collecting sales of residential properties for the prior 12-15 month timeframe. The district includes foreclosure sales in the overall residential analysis conducted, as outlined in §23 of the Texas Tax Code, again a jurisdictional exception.

All sales are reviewed and are then grouped according to quality class assigned to the residential structure. Once grouped, a sales ratio study is conducted for each quality group. The sales ratio study is a simple and straight-forward exercise in mathematics: the prior year appraisal for each individual property included in the study is divided by the current sales price of that property. The result is a ratio expressed as a percentage. If the prior year appraisal is less than the sales price, the result will be a percentage less than 100%; if greater than the sales price, the result will be a percentage greater than 100%. The purpose of the sales ratio study is to determine the accuracy of prior year appraisal with respect to current market (sales) value of properties within the study.

Once individual ratios have been determined, the average and median ratios are calculated for each quality group. In addition, the weighted mean is calculated for each quality group as well as for the entire study. The weighted mean for each quality group is calculated by summing the appraisals for each property within the quality group, then summing the sales prices for the same properties and then dividing the first result by the second. The weighted mean for the entire study is calculated by summing the appraisal of all properties (regardless of class), then summing the sales price for all properties and then dividing the first result by the second. Generally, within each statistical group, the most weight is given to the average weighted mean ratio.

The resulting statistics of the mean ratios, median ratios and weighted mean ratios are then used to conclude adjustments to the residential valuation schedules to arrive at near 100% market value within each quality group of property.

The general procedure described above is implemented by these specific actions:

- Apply land value update as determined by land value analysis.
- Perform residential time adjustment analysis using sales ratio trend method to verify if time adjustment will be required for ratio studies.
- Perform ratio studies for each residential class group to note 'effective change in value' prior to any possible schedule changes. Note 'effective' change in overall market as well as for each quality group.
- Review data published in nationally recognized appraisal publication and, if necessary, reset: RCN@1800sqft, District Multiplier, Local Multiplier, and/or Area Modifier matrices to correspond with published data.
- Post matrices adjustment: perform ratio studies for each residential class group to note 'effective change in value' prior to any possible changes to: Index Multiplier, and/or GAD (Sales) Modifier matrices.
- Adjust relevant matrices as required to arrive at near 100% market value as stipulated by statute.

Once the master residential valuation schedule is updated, consequently the appraisals of single-family residences are updated based on the updated master base residential schedule values. Further appraisal analysis is then performed in terms of neighborhood and or defined market areas. This analysis is performed to "fine tune" the appraisals and to determine if properties within certain neighborhoods or market areas are selling at a premium or a discount when compared to the market as a whole. Neighborhood analysis is performed by conducting ratio studies within individual, neighborhoods or defined market areas. The results of the neighborhood ratio studies will aid in determining if the appraisals within the neighborhood need to be adjusted downward or upward. Whichever the conclusion, based on the available evidence, each property located within a neighborhood will receive a "mass adjustment" to increase or decrease the market value as deemed necessary from the results of the neighborhood ratio study. If there is not a mass adjustment at the neighborhood level, it was determined that that ratio study conducted based on the current appraisals were sufficient and did not need a positive or negative adjustment to arrive at 100% of market value, as mandated in The Texas Tax Code.

Multi-Family Residential

For multi-family properties such as duplexes, four-plex properties, the sales comparison approach appraisal model is used to arrive at an estimate of market value. Specific to apartment complexes, the income approach appraisal model will be developed, and used based on the ability to annually acquire and validate adequate income and expense information from this category of properties from industry. When there is inadequate sales information available to derive reliable appraisals, additional appraisal models will be necessary and implemented for use to evaluate these properties. Since these types of properties are primarily owned for the purpose of income generation, the net income that a property produces is an indication of its value, therefore the valuation methods within the income approach to value can be used as a reliable model for the appraisal of the property. Lastly, if adequate sales or income information is not available, the cost approach to value will be implemented to arrive at an indication of property value. From time to time, there may be federal governmental restrictions on large scale multi-family units that will need to be considered in determining the market value. All three approaches to value may be used, assuming sufficient and reliable information is available for the appraiser to employ these approaches to value for this type of property. The value assigned will be that which reflects the market value of the property. In a perfect scenario, there will be an abundance of information and willingness by the property owner to supply necessary information, so that all three approaches to value may be employed to arrive at an indicated value. However, this is almost never the case with only limited information being supplied by the property owner.

B. Rural, Commercial & Platted Residential Land

According to accepted appraisal theory, only the income and market/sales comparison model are acceptable in determining market value of land. The cost approach is generally neither appropriate nor applicable, and therefore is not generally used in the valuation process of land in the district. The sales comparison approach is the most widely used method in determining market value, thus is the method that will be implemented in the District to derive appraisals of all types of land. In instances where the sales comparison and income approach can be implemented, both methods will be used and the final assigned value will be determined by the value that best describes the market value of the land, considering the particular characteristics of the subject property, and current market conditions. Further, for residential platted lots, during the residential neighborhood analysis, appraisers will generate sales reports for this category of property during the residential neighborhood analysis to review data and make any necessary changes evidence by the available data to arrive at market value.

C. Business Personal Property (non-industrial)

Several methods may be used in appraising market value for business personal property. Generally, the cost approach is used, due to the availability and reliability of information. The depreciation schedule developed by the Property Tax Assistance Division of the Comptroller of Public Accounts will be used by district appraisal staff to aid in developing indicated values. Also, the cost schedules developed by the Property Tax Assistance Division of the Comptroller of Public Accounts can be used in events where no rendition information is attainable from the property owner. These schedules are normally in a cost per square foot format, however, some industry schedules are in an alternate per unit format. The replacement cost new less depreciation (R.C.N.L.D.) may be developed from property owners reporting (rendering) of historical cost. As well, national valuation guides and actual sales information may be considered in the valuation process. The method used for this type of valuation is often determined by which method considers the most information for the property being appraised, and reflects the accuracy of the market value as of the January 1st appraisal date. Typically, the cost approach (R.C.N.L.D.) is where the most accurate information is available, and thus produces the most accurate indicated value.

D. Commercial

Several methods may be used in appraising the market value for commercial property. Generally, cost, market/sales comparison approach and the income approach may all be feasible approaches to value for this category of properties in the District, on different occasions. The approach to value most applicable will depend highly on the category of property as well as the quantity and quality of information available at the time of the appraisal. Generally, the District will appraise Hotels/Motels, Apartments, Retail Strip Centers (use code 2050 & 255), and Industrial-Warehouses/Distribution (>50 K sf)/ (CLAD9) based on the Income Approach to value. Generally, the District will appraise Aircraft Hangers, Daycare Facilities, Mini-Warehouses, Assisted Living Facilities, Discount Retail Stores, Nursing Home Facilities, Auditoriums, Drugstores, Office

Buildings (Medical), Auto Dealerships, Fires Stations, Office Buildings (Non-Medical), Banks, Barber/Beauty Shops, Funeral Homes, Portable Classrooms, Funeral Homes, Bowling Alleys, Health/Fitness Centers, Restaurants, Churches, College Facilities, Retail Stores, Community Centers, Jail/Detention Facilities, Schools, Community Shopping Centers, Laundry Facilities, Service Garages, Convenience/Quick Stop Stores, Coin Operated Laundry Facilities, Veterinary Facilities, Dance Halls, Mini-Lube Facilities, and smaller Warehouses on a cost schedule.

For the 2015 year, the District will survey Office Buildings to determine the quality and quantity of available and reliable income and expense data that is available for valuation of this property use category by the income approach to value. In addition, for the 2016 year, the District will survey Mini-Warehouses to determine the quality and quantity of available and reliable income and expense data that is available for valuation of this property use category by the income approach to value.

The appraiser considers results that best address the individual characteristics of the subject property when multiple appraisal models are used.

D. Utility, Railroad & Pipeline Property

For all three types of property, the appraiser must first form an opinion of highest and best use. Among the three approaches to value (cost, income and market), pipeline value is calculated using a replacement/reproduction cost new less depreciation model (RCNLD). In addition to the RCNLD indicator, a unit value model may also be used if appropriate data are available. Utility and railroad property are appraised in a manner similar to pipeline except that the RCNLD model is not used.

E. Industrial Real Property

Among the three approaches to value (cost, income and market), industrial properties are most commonly appraised using replacement/reproduction cost new less depreciation models because of readily available cost information. If sufficient income or market data are available, those appraisal models may also be used.

F. Industrial Personal Property

Personal property is appraised using replacement/reproduction cost new less depreciation models. Income approach models are used when economic and/or subject property income is available, and a market data model is used when appropriate market sales information is available.

G. Oil & Gas Property

Among the three approaches to value (cost, income and market), the income approach to value is most commonly used in the oil and gas industry. Through use of the discounted cash flow technique in particular, the appraiser is able to bring together relevant characteristics of production volume and pattern, product prices, operating expenses and discount rate to determine an estimate of appraised value of an oil or gas property.

V.) Review of Appraisal Results

(ANALYSIS AND IMPLEMENTATION)

A. Residential Property

Statistical Analysis

Annually, the appraisal district staff will perform statistical analysis annually to evaluate whether estimated values are equitable and consistent with the market activity. Sales ratio studies are conducted on each of the defined residential neighborhoods to judge the two primary aspects of mass appraisal accuracy and level of uniformity of value. Appraisal statistics of central tendency generated from sales ratios are evaluated and analyzed for each neighborhood. The level of appraised values is determined by the weighted mean ratio for sales of individual properties within a neighborhood, and a comparison of neighborhood weighted means reflect the general level of appraised value between comparable neighborhoods.

Through the sales ratio analysis process, appraisers will review neighborhoods annually. The first phase involves neighborhood ratio studies that compare the recent sales prices of neighborhood properties to the appraised values of these sold properties. This set of ratio study information affords the appraiser an excellent means of judging the present level of appraised value and uniformity of the sales within the neighborhood. The appraiser, based on the sales ratio statistics, makes a preliminary decision as to whether the value level in a neighborhood needs to be changed or whether the market value in a neighborhood is at an acceptable level of appraisal.

Review by Inspecting Appraiser

In addition to the above described process, appraisers will review, as time permits, the results of any fieldwork conducted to determine if the resulting appraisal accurately describes the value of the property and will make any adjustments deemed necessary.

In cases when multiple appraisal models are implemented, the appraiser considers the results that best address the individual characteristics of the subject property. Once the best result is determined, it is then selected and entered as the appraisal for the given year.

B. Rural, Commercial & Platted Residential Land

Annually, the appraisal district staff will perform statistical analysis to evaluate whether estimated values are equitable and consistent with the market activity. Sales ratio studies are conducted on each of the defined Geo's for rural land and each residential and commercial neighborhood to judge the two primary aspects of mass appraisal level of accuracy and uniformity of value. Appraisal statistics of central tendency generated from sales ratios are evaluated and analyzed for each neighborhood. The level of appraised values is determined by the weighted mean ratio for sales of individual properties within a neighborhood (residential or commercial) and Geo. A comparison of neighborhood weighted means reflect the general level of appraised value between comparable neighborhoods. The appraiser considers results that best address the individual characteristics of the subject property when multiple appraisal models are used.

C. Business Personal Property (non-industrial)-

Appraisal district staff will perform annual analysis to determine if the estimated market values are equitable in the district. The appraisal district staff will conduct annual review of SIC codes to determine an equitable valuation of business personal property with similar business groupings where reliable and available data exists. The application will result in schedule development based on rendered data sets for certain SIC codes, and application of results to the entire universe of that particular SIC code in the District.

D. Utility, Railroad & Pipeline Property

The appraiser considers results that best address the individual characteristics of the subject property when multiple models are used. Year-to-year property value changes for the subject property are examined using computer-assisted statistical review. Periodic reassignment of properties among appraisers or the review of appraisals by a more experienced appraiser also contributes to the review process. These types of property are also subject to review by the Property Tax Division of the Texas Comptroller's Office through their annual Property Value Study.

E. Industrial Real Property

The appraiser considers results that best address the individual characteristics of the subject property and that are based on the most reliable data when multiple models are used. Year-to year property value changes for the subject property are examined using computer-assisted statistical review. Periodic reassignment of properties among appraisers or the review of appraisals by a more experienced appraiser also contributes to the review process.

F. Industrial Personal Property

The appraiser reconciles multiple models by considering the model that best addresses the individual characteristics of the subject property. Year-to year property value changes for the subject property are examined using computer-assisted statistical review. Periodic reassignment of properties among appraisers or the review of appraisals by a more experienced appraiser also contributes to the review process.

G. Oil & Gas Property

Use of the income approach is the first step in determining an estimate of market value. After that the appraiser reviews the estimated market value compared to its previous certified value and also compares it to industry expected payouts and income indicators. The appraiser examines the model's value with its previous year's actual income, expecting value to typically vary within in a range of 2-5 times actual annual income, provided all appropriate income factors have been correctly identified. Finally, periodic reassignment of properties among appraisers and review of appraisals by a more experienced appraiser further expand the review process.

Included as Exhibit E is a 2015/2016 Appraisal Work plan that identifies the individual appraisal staff members, and also uses a block scheduling timeframe. This is aimed to keep the appraisal team and the administrative team on task with regard to projects. Please note that some of the annual processes are not noted, and is not intended to be viewed as a daily calendar, but in a broader sense its use is intended as previously stated.

LIMITING CONDITIONS:

The appraised value estimates provided by the district are subject to the following conditions:

- 1.) The appraisals were prepared exclusively for the scope of ad valorem tax purposes.
- 2.) The property characteristic data upon which the appraisals have been based is assumed correct. The inspections of property are performed by the appraisal staff and are conducted from the exterior.
- 3.) Title and the legal description are assumed to be correct and marketable.
- 4.) Validation of sales transactions have been attempted through field review, confirmations by the buyer, and or seller, or by the Multiple Listing Service. Residential and commercial sales data validated from vendors is used and deemed reliable.
- 5.) Following is a list of appraisal district staff and contracted appraisal firms that have provided significant mass appraisal assistance to the person signing this certification.
- 6.) Attached is a list of the appraisal district's (County) latest ratio study results. (EXHIBIT K)
- 7.) Attached is a tentative 2015/2016 Appraisal Department Work Plan for the Guadalupe Appraisal District. (EXHIBIT E)

EXHIBIT A1

Please note that Geos 1, 2, and 30 are areas that are located outside of Guadalupe County, and formerly the Guadalupe Appraisal District was responsible for appraisal maintenance, however, are listed and described due to the fact that legislation may change.

Also, included are Commercial market areas.

Market {'GEO'}) Areas of the Guadalupe Appraisal District

Geo-01

No longer appraised per HB 1010; Bexar County areas that are concurrent in the Schertz-Cibolo-Universal City School District and/or the City of Schertz.

Geo-02

No longer appraised per HB 1010; Bexar County areas that are concurrent in the Schertz-Cibolo-Universal City School District and/or the City of Schertz.

Area, beginning at the north-east corner, located at the intersection of FM-3009 and the Guadalupe County-Comal County geopolitical boundary, bounded on the north by the Guadalupe County-Comal County geopolitical boundary until it intersects the centerline of the main channel of the Cibolo Creek, then south-easterly along the centerline of the main channel of the Cibolo Creek until it intersects the survey boundary between Abstract 221 and Abstract 216, then northerly along the abstract boundary line until it intersects FM-78, then westerly along FM-78 until it intersects FM-3009, then north-westerly along FM- 3009 until the point of beginning. Encompassing +/-4,800 acres, approximately 1.1% of the county.

Development: Primarily mixed quality residential tract housing with associated commercial and retail within the city limits of Schertz; mixed but primarily undeveloped with some tract residential housing, retail, light industrial, warehousing, and secondary residential within the city limits of Selma in the north-western portion; with a very small portion of rural undeveloped acreage in the west-central portion; and having mostly retail located along the I-35 corridor and major transportation corridors; with very little development along the near Cibolo Creek area. The undeveloped portions are primarily open range, grassland, or cropland with some associated residential housing. THE MARKET is strongly influenced by municipal control of the relevant cities; by tract availability and by subdivision of land by owners; the major transportation route (IH-35, FM-78, FM-1518, and FM-3009) and the proximity of the San Antonio SMSA, urbanization by the cities of Cibolo, Schertz, and Selma. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be mostly high density residential tract housing within the currently platted subdivisions with localized commercial in the areas along the major transportation corridors [Schertz Parkway, FM-78, FM-1518 & IH-35]; with the possibility of additional platting for residential and/or commercial development dependent on municipal control by the relevant municipalities; subdivision of land by owners or developers; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations; and, as relevant in appropriate areas, by ACUZ restrictions. There is expected to be little, if any, development along the near Cibolo Creek area.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (71%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association with (29%) Austin-Eddy [6] association in the north-eastern portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Geo-04

Area: Beginning at the south-west corner, located at the centerline of the main channel of the Cibolo Creek and the centerline of W. Schaefer Road, bounded on the south by W. Schaefer Road, E. Schaefer Road, and crossing Haeckerville Road following an imaginary line that follow the boundary of the city of Cibolo until it intersects into the end of Robin Drive, north-westerly up Robin Drive to an imaginary extension of Tolle Road at its intersection with County Line Road and continuing up both sides of Tolle Road until it intersects Weil Road, the north-easterly along Weil Road until it intersects Brite Road, then north-easterly along Brite Road until it intersects FM-1103, Then north-westerly along FM-1103 until it intersects the Guadalupe County - Comal County geopolitical boundary, then south-westerly along the Guadalupe County – Comal County geopolitical boundary until it intersects the center line of the right of way of IH-35, then along the center line of the right of way of IH-35 until it intersects FM-3009, then south-easterly along FM-3009 to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/- 6942 acres, approximately 1.44% of the county.

Development: Primarily mixed quality residential tract homes, with some custom housing on residual acreage in the western portion within the city limits of Cibolo or Schertz; with some residential in the suburban and rural acreage; with some retail and light industry development along the FM-3009 corridor; with a large portion of rural undeveloped acreage in the eastern portion. The undeveloped portions are mostly open range, grassland, or cultivated with some associated residential housing; with some rural residential tract development along FM-1103; with ranchette development along Country Land and Tolle Rd. A significant portion of the rural residences are manufactured housing. THE MARKET is strongly influenced by municipal control of the relevant cities; by tract availability and by subdivision of land by families of developers; the proximity of IH-35, the San Antonio SMSA, and urbanization and annexation by the cities of Cibolo and Schertz. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be mostly high density residential tract housing within the currently platted subdivisions with localized commercial development in the areas along the major transportation corridors [Schertz Parkway, FM-78, FM-1103, FM-3009 & IH- 35]; with the possibility of additional platting for residential and/or commercial development dependent on municipal control by the relevant municipalities; subdivision of land by owners or developers; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (68%) Austin-Eddy [6] association with (11%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association in the eastern portion and (21%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association in the southern portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Geo-05

Area, beginning at the north-east corner, located at the intersection of FM 1044 and the Guadalupe County- Comal County geopolitical boundary, bounded on the north-west by the Guadalupe County- Comal County geopolitical boundary until it intersects FM-1103, then south-easterly along FM-1103 until it intersects Green Valley Road, then north-easterly along Green Valley Road until it intersects Fm1044, then north-easterly along FM 1044 to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/- 4247 acres, approximately .88% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural with some urban and suburban residential tract housing development within the city of Schertz in the north-west section and within the City of New Braunfels in the north-east section. Along with tract housing and custom homes on acreage and ranchette dispersed throughout the urban areas. The undeveloped portions are mostly open rangeland, grassland, or cultivated with some associated residential housing and with some rural residential tract developments along Green Valley Road. A significant portion of the rural residences are manufactured housing. There is some private recreational development in the northwest portion. THE MARKET is strongly influenced by municipal control of the relevant cities and by subdivision of land by families or the developers; urbanization and annexation by the cities of Cibolo, Schertz, New Braunfels and Santa Clara as well as the availability of utilities in rural areas and as restricted by FEMA regulations as well as widespread urbanization and secondary residential development with additional platting for residential tract housing development along FM-1103 in the western portion. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be mostly high density residential tract housing within and adjacent to the currently platted subdivisions; along with widespread urbanization and secondary residential development in the more rural areas; with additional high density tract home development along the FM-1103 corridor; localized commercial in the areas along the major transportation corridors [close relation to IH 35 and FM-1103]; with the possibility of additional platting for residential and/or commercial development dependent on municipal control by the relevant municipalities; subdivision of land by owners or developers; availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (96%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association with (3%) Austin-Eddy [6] association in the north-west portion and (1%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association in the southern portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of bounded on the eastern side of Tolle Road and FM-78, bounded on the south side by FM-78 until it intersects with FM-725 , then north-westerly along FM-725 until it intersects bounded by the southern properties that do not front Altwein Road, then west along the southern bounded properties that do not front Altwein Road until it intersects Youngsford Road, then north-westerly along Youngsford Road until it intersects with FM-1044, then northerly along the eastern properties that do not front FM-1044 Road until it intersects Weil Road, then south-westerly along Weil Road until it intersects Creek Road, then north-westerly along Creek Road until it intersects the imaginary line of the southern properties that do not front Green Valley Road, then south-westerly imaginary line of the southern properties that do not front Green Valley Road to the intersection of FM-1103, then south-easterly FM-1103 to the beginning point. Encompassing +/-18712 acres, approximately 3.88% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural acreage with little urban development within the city limits of Marion in the south central portion; with scarce development toward the city of New Braunfels in the north-eastern portion, the city of Santa Clara dispersed throughout the southern half; otherwise, mostly rural or unstructured acreages, ranchette tracts, and undeveloped acreage with some associated residential housing. The undeveloped portions are mostly open rangeland, grassland, or cultivated with some associated residential housing. A portion of the rural housing is manufactured homes. THE MARKET near the cities is strongly influenced by municipal control, annexation by and urbanization of the relevant cities. THE MARKET in the undeveloped areas is influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers as well as the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be limited high density residential tract housing along with moderate widespread urbanization and secondary residential development as influenced by municipal control and urbanization by the relevant cities; subdivision of land by owners or developers; availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. High density residential tract home development is anticipated to increase as cities annex into this area.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (68%) Houston-Black- Heiden [3] association with (32%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association along the Santa Clara Creek; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of FM- 725 and an imaginary line bounded by the southern properties that do not front Altwein Road, then north-westerly along FM-725 until it intersects the Guadalupe County – Comal County geopolitical boundary, then southwest along the Guadalupe County- Comal County geopolitical boundary until it intersects Ron Road, then south-easterly along Ron Road until it intersects into Green Valley Road, continuing south-westerly along Green Valley Road to the intersects with Creek Road, the south-easterly along Creek Road until it intersects with Weil Road, then north-easterly along Weil Road until it intersects with the eastern properties that do not front FM-1044 Road, then south-easterly along the eastern properties that do not front FM-1044 Road until it intersects with Youngsford Road, then south-easterly along Youngsford Road until it intersects with the southern properties that do not front Altwein Road to point of beginning. Encompassing +/-11,903 acres, approximately 2.47% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural acreage with significant tract housing urbanization within the city limits of New Braunfels in the northern portion and some organized residential development in the community of McQueeney in the south-eastern portion. The undeveloped rural portions are mostly unstructured housing or open rangeland, grassland, brush land, or cultivated with some associated residential housing. There is some light industry and retail commercial along FM-725 in the northern portion. A notable portion of the rural housing is manufactured housing. THE MARKET in the northern portion is influenced by municipal control of and annexation by New Braunfels and urbanization by the cities of New Braunfels as well as the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations. THE MARKET in the rural undeveloped areas is influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers as well as the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be localized high density residential tract housing mostly concentrated in the northern portion as influenced by the city of New Braunfels along with moderate widespread urbanization and secondary residential development, decreasing in density in the southern portion; with some high density tract housing development and unstructured individual residential development along with light industry and retail commercial along the FM-725 corridor; as influenced by municipal control and urbanization by the city of New Braunfels; Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. High density residential development is anticipated to increase as New Braunfels annexes into this area, especially along Klein Road, West Zipp Road, and FM-78.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (99%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association with (1%) Sunev-Seguín [5] association in the south-eastern portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of FM-78 and FM-725, bounded on the south by FM-78 until it intersects the centerline of the main channel of the Guadalupe River, then northwesterly along the centerline of the main channel of the Guadalupe River until it intersects the Guadalupe County-Comal County geopolitical boundary, then southwest along the Guadalupe County-Comal County geopolitical boundary until it intersects FM-725, then southeasterly along FM-725 to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/-4441 acres, approximately .92% of the county.

Development: Mixture of urban, suburban, and rural developments in the northern portion with the same mix including custom homes in the waterfront development alongside the near Guadalupe River areas. Mostly residential tract development within and near the city limits of New Braunfels and non-tract residential housing in the community of McQueeney with some organized residential tract development areas along FM725 and the near Guadalupe River area; with independent high density custom residential tract development around the Lake McQueeney and Lake Dunlap areas; with the south-west portion being mostly undeveloped open rangeland, grassland, brush land, or cultivated with some associated residential housing. There is some commercial light industry and retail along FM-725 near New Braunfels and in and around the McQueeney area; with some private recreational development in the near Guadalupe River areas. A notable portion of the rural housing is manufactured housing except in certain portions near the Guadalupe River area. THE MARKET in the northern portion is influenced by the municipal control of and urbanization by the city of New Braunfels and as influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers as well as the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations. The Guadalupe River areas and other waterfront areas are strongly affected by limited supply. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be a mixture of high and medium density residential tract housing concentrated in the northern portion as influenced by the city of New Braunfels; otherwise moderate widespread residential rural development along FM-725 and in the near Guadalupe River areas consisting of secondary independent development and some organized high to medium density tract housing development with otherwise unstructured development along with some light industry and retail commercial along FM-725. Waterfront home development with custom housing in independently developed tract areas along the near Guadalupe River area will increase as tracts become available. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. High density residential development is anticipated to increase as New Braunfels annexes into this area.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (56%) Senev-Seguin [5] association with (44%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association along the Guadalupe River; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of the centerline of the main channel of the Guadalupe River and Ili-10, bounded on the south by IH-10 until it intersects State Highway 46, then northwesterly along State Highway 46 until it intersects the Guadalupe County -Hays County geopolitical boundary, then southwest along the Guadalupe County- Hays County geopolitical boundary until it intersects the centerline of the main channel of the Guadalupe River, then southeasterly along the centerline of the main channel of the Guadalupe River to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/-7207 acres, approximately 1.5% of the county.

Development: Mixture of urban, suburban, and rural residential development in the northern section strongly influenced by the city of New Braunfels and the near Guadalupe River area. Varying quality near and waterfront residential development along the Guadalupe River with independent high density residential tract development around the Lake McQueeney and Lake Dunlap areas in the central western portion. Mildly influenced by the city of Seguin in the southern portion. Some residential, light industry and retail commercial developed along State Highway 46 in the northern end. The undeveloped portions are mostly open rangeland, grassland, brush, or cultivated with some associated residential housing; some light to medium industry and retail commercial along State Highway 46 and Ili-10 in the southern portion, with sparse heavy industry development along the southern portion of the Guadalupe River; some private recreational development in the near Guadalupe River areas. A portion of the rural housing in the north central and south-west portions is manufactured housing. THE MARKET will be influenced by municipal control of and urbanization by the city of New Braunfels in the north and Seguin in the south; and as influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers as well as the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations. The waterfront areas are strongly affected by limited supply. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be a mixture of high and medium density residential tract housing concentrated in the northern portion as influenced by the city of New Braunfels; otherwise moderate widespread residential rural development along State Highway 46 and in the near Guadalupe River areas consisting of secondary independent development and some organized high to medium density tract housing development with otherwise unstructured development along with some light to medium industry development concentrated in the southern portion of State Highway 46, the southern portion of FM-725, and along IH-10. Waterfront home development with custom housing in independently developed tract areas in the near Guadalupe River areas will increase as tracts become available. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. High density residential development is anticipated to increase as New Braunfels annexes into this area.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (64%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association with (36%) Sunev-Seguin [5] association along the Guadalupe River; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of State Highway 46 and IH-10, bounded on the south by IH-10 until it intersects State Highway 123 Business, then north along State Highway 123 Business until it intersects State Highway 123, then north along State Highway 123 until it intersects FM-758, then westerly along FM-758 until it intersects Airport Road, then northwesterly along Airport Road until it intersects the Guadalupe County-Hays County geopolitical boundary, then southwest along the Guadalupe County-Hays County geopolitical boundary until it intersects State Highway 46, then southeasterly along State Highway 46 to point of beginning. Encompassing +/- 24131 acres, approximately 5.01% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural undeveloped with some urban and suburban residential tract development within and near the city limits of New Braunfels in the north-western portion and the city limits of Seguin in the southern portion and the community of Geronimo. The northern areas are mostly residential with some retail commercial along State Highway 46 and some light industry at the New Braunfels Municipal Airport. The southern urban area is mostly undeveloped with some light industry and retail commercial along State Highway 46, State Highway 123, and IH-10. The Geronimo area is mostly unstructured residential with light industry and retail commercial. The undeveloped portions are primarily open range, grassland, brush land, or cultivated with some associated residential housing. There are organized residential tract housing developments scattered along the entire length of State Highway 46. THE MARKET is influenced by municipal control of the relevant cities and urbanization by the cities of New Braunfels and Seguin; and as influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; as well as the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be scattered medium to high density residential tract housing concentrated in the northwestern portion and otherwise widespread urbanization and secondary residential development consisting of scattered pockets of independently developed tract, and ranchette housing throughout the rural areas; with some light industrial and retail commercial along the State Highway 46 corridor at the northern and southern ends, as well as along Ili-10 and the southern end of State Highway 123. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. In the southern portion, development will be dependent on municipal control by the city of Seguin and it is anticipated that there will be an increase in high density residential development as Seguin annexes into this area.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (98%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association with (2%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association in the north-eastern portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-east corner, located at the intersection of FM-758 and State Highway 123, bound on the east side by State Highway 123 until it intersects the Guadalupe County -Hays County geopolitical boundary, then southwest along the Guadalupe County- Hays County geopolitical boundary until it intersects Airport Road, then southeast along Airport Road until it intersects FM-758, then easterly along FM-758 to point of beginning. Encompassing +/-15963 acres, approximately 3.31 % of the county.

Development: Mostly rural undeveloped with some rural residential and light industrial development in the extreme north portion near the city of San Marcos. The undeveloped portions are primarily open range, grassland, brush, or cultivated with some associated residential housing. There is little organized residential tract housing along State Highway 123 and some private recreational development. A portion of the residential housing is manufactured housing. THE MARKET is influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations; the extreme northern portion will be influenced by the proximity of the city of San Marcos. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be negligible and limited to independent mixed quality residential development by owners along with some light industrial and retail commercial along the northern part of State Highway 123. The northern portion might see some medium to high density residential tract housing development as a result of urbanization around the city of San Marcos . Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (87%) Houston Black- Heiden [3] association with (13%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association in the south-western portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland- crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of State Highway 123 and FM-1979, bound on the south side by FM-1979 turning into FM-621 and then back into FM-1979 until it intersects west bank of the San Marcos River, then along the west bank of the San Marcos River until it intersects Guadalupe County- Hays County geopolitical boundary, then southwesterly along the Guadalupe County- Hays County geopolitical boundary line until it intersects State Highway 123, then south along State Highway 123 to point of beginning. Encompassing +/-13321 acres, approximately 2.76% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural undeveloped with some rural development in the extreme north portion and with mixed quality residential development along the near San Marcos River areas. The undeveloped portions are primarily open range, grassland, brush land, or cultivated with some associated residential housing. The organized residential housing developments along FM 1978 are mostly manufactured housing. THE MARKET is influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; by the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations; the extreme northern portion is highly influenced by the low quality housing in the area and slightly influenced by the proximity of the city of San Marcos. The near San Marcos River areas are highly affected by the limited supply. The Redwood area is primarily a manufactured housing development area. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be negligible and limited to independent mixed quality residential development by owners along with some light industrial and retail commercial along the northern part of State Highway 123. The north-western boundary area might see some medium to high density residential tract housing as a result of urbanization around the city of San Marcos. Waterfront home development with custom housing in independently developed tract areas along the near San Marcos River area will increase as tracts become available. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. High density residential tract housing development is anticipated to increase as San Marcos annexes into this area.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (85%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association with (11%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association and (4%) Sunev-Seguin [5] along the San Marcos River; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of Geronimo Drive and FM-2623, bound on the south side by FM-2623 until it intersects Old Lehmann Road, then northeasterly along FM-20 until it intersects Cut Across Road, then along Cut Across Road until it intersects Kingsbury Road, then north on Kingsbury Road until it intersects FM-20 then along FM-20 until it intersects Bylerpool Road, then northwest along Bylerpool Road until it intersects, FM-1339, then northeast along FM-1339 until it intersects Offermann Hill Road, then northwest along Offermann Hill Road until it intersects, FM-1979, then southwest and west along FM-1979 until it intersects State Highway 123, the southerly along State Highway 123 until it intersects Geronimo Drive then south along Geronimo Drive to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/-26499 acres, approximately 5.5% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural with some light industry and retail commercial along State Highway 123. The undeveloped portions are open range, grassland, brush, or cultivated with some associated residential housing. There is some organized residential housing, mostly ranchettes, along State Highway 123 and some of the other major thoroughfares. THE MARKET is influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; the availability of utilities; and as restricted by FEMA regulations; the northern portion may be slightly influenced by the proximity of San Marcos while the eastern portion may be slightly influenced by the anticipated placement and construction of State Highway 130. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be mostly independent mixed quality residential construction on small to medium size acreage with the possibility of some medium. density ranchette development near the community of Geronimo with medium to low density ranchette development scattered throughout the area; with a low probability of some light industry and/or commercial development along the State Highway 123 corridor. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (97%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association with (3%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association in the north-eastern portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic with grassland-post oak mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of State Highway 123 Business and IH-10, bound ed on the south side by ill-10 until it intersects an imaginary extension of Old Ilka Road, then north on the imaginary extension of Old Ilka Road, continuing north and west along Old Ilka Road until it intersects Highway 90, then west on Highway 90 until it intersects Ilka Switch, then along Ilka Switch until it intersects FM-20, then northeasterly along FM-20 until it intersects Old Lehmann Road, then north on Old Lehmann Road until it intersects FM-2623, then westerly along FM-2623 until it intersects Geronimo Drive, then north on Geronimo Drive until it intersects State Highway 123, then south along State Highway 123 until it intersects State Highway 123 Business, then south along State Highway 123 to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/-13854 acres, approximately 2.87% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural undeveloped with some urban and suburban development within and near the city limits of Seguin in the southern portion and near the community of Geronimo in the north-western portion. The north-western portion is mostly residential with some light industry and retail commercial along State Highway 123 in the Geronimo community. The southern urban area is mostly undeveloped with some organized residential tract residential development; and some light industry and retail commercial development along State Highway 123 and By-pass 123. There is some independent custom residential development along the near Geronimo Creek area. The undeveloped portions are open range, grassland, brush land, and cultivate with some associated residential housing. There are some organized rural residential ranchette development areas composed of mostly manufactured housing. THE MARKET is influenced by municipal control of and urbanization by the city of Seguin; by subdivision of land by families or the developers; as well as the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations, the southern portion is influenced by the proximity of IH-10 while the western portion is influenced by State Highway 123 and Bypass 123. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be mostly independent mixed quality residential construction on small to medium size acreage with the possibility of some low to medium density ranchette development scattered throughout the area; with a probability of some light industry and/or commercial development along the IH-10 and State Highway 123 corridors. Development along the near Geronimo Creek area is expected to be filling of the established subdivisions with additional custom housing by independent developers as tracts become available. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. Residential development is expected to be concentrated in the Geronimo community area, along the State Highway 123 corridor, and the IH-10 corridor. In the southern portion, development will be dependent on municipal control by the city of Seguin and it is anticipated that there will be an increase in high density residential development as Seguin annexes into this area.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (71%) Branyon - Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association with (16%) Crockett-Demona-Windthorst [1] association in the eastern portion and (13%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association in the north-eastern portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland- crop mosaic with some post oak-grassland mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at a south-west corner, located at the intersection of FM-20 and Ilka Switch, bounded on the south side by Ilka Switch until it intersects Highway 90, then east on Highway 90 until it intersects Old Ilka Road, then east and south on Old Ilka Road until it abuts the IH-10 right-of-way, then directly south on an imaginary extension of Old Ilka Road to the center of the IH-10 right-of-way, then easterly along IH-10 until it reaches a southerly extension of the boundary line between PID#71219 and PID#64833 and the center of the Ili-10 right-of-way, then along the southerly extension of the boundary line between PID#71219 and PID#64833 onto and along the actual boundary line until it intersects Pratt Road, then southwesterly and northerly along Pratt Road until it intersects Highway 90, then southwesterly along Highway 90 until it intersects Tschoepe Road, then northerly along Tschoepe Road until it intersects Mill Creek Road, then northeasterly along Mill Creek Road until it intersects Gravel Pit Road, then northerly along Gravel Pit Road until it intersects Kingsbury Road, then northwesterly along Kingsbury Road until it intersects Cut Across Road, then southwest along Cut Across Road until it intersects FM-20, then southwesterly along FM-20 to the point of beginning. Encompassing an area of +/- 11546 acres, approximately 2.4% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural undeveloped with some light industry along Highway 90. The undeveloped portions are open range, grassland, brush, forest, or cultivated land with some associated residential housing. There is some organized residential housing, mostly manufactured homes scattered throughout the area. THE MARKET will be influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; by the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations; the southern portion may be influenced by the proximity of I-10 while the central and north-eastern portion may be influenced by the anticipated placement of State Highway 130. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be light, mostly independent mixed quality residential construction on small to medium size acreage with the possibility of some medium to low density ranchette development scattered throughout the area; otherwise, mostly rural or unstructured housing with some light industry development along the State Highway 90 corridor. Construction of State Highway 130 will increase the likelihood of light industry and commercial construction at its intersection with IH-10. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. In the southern portion, development will be dependent on municipal control by the city of Seguin and it is anticipated that there will be an increase in high density residential development as Seguin annexes into this area.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (92%) Crockett-Demonia-Windhorst [1] association with (8%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association in the north-western portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily post oak-grassland mosaic and some post oak woods vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of an imaginary line that is the directly south extension of the boundary line between PID#71219 and PID#64833 and the center of the IH-10 right-of-way, bounded on the south side by IH- 10 until it intersects Baker Road, then northeasterly along Baker Road until it intersects Appling Road, then north-westerly along Appling Road until it intersects Highway 90, then easterly on Highway 90 until it intersects Trestle Road, then north on Trestle Road until it intersects Woodrow Center Road, then west and northwesterly on Woodrow Center Road until it intersects Gander Slough Road, then northeasterly on Gander Slough Road until it intersects Jones Road, then northwesterly on Jones Road until it intersects Prairie Lea Road, then easterly on Prairie Lea Road until it intersects Cottonwood Creek Road, then northwesterly on Cottonwood Creek Road until it intersects FM-20, then northwest and southwesterly along FM-20 until it reaches Kingsbury Road, then southeasterly along Kingsbury Road until it reaches Gravel Pit Road, then southwest and southeasterly along Gravel Pit Road until it reaches Mill Creek Road, then along Mill Creek Road until it intersects Tschoepe Road, then southerly along Tschoepe Road until it intersects Highway 90, then northeasterly along Highway 90 until it intersects Pratt Road then southeasterly along Pratt Road until it intersects to private lane on PID#71219, then directly south on the boundary line between PID#71219 and PID#64833 to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/-26493 acres, approximately 5.5% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural undeveloped with some light industry along Highway 90. There is some organized residential development in and around the community of Kingsbury. The rural areas are generally acreage tracts with mixed quality housing. The undeveloped portions are open range, grassland, forest, brush land, or cultivated land with some associated residential housing. There is some organized residential housing, mostly on ranchettes containing manufactured homes, scattered throughout the area. THE MARKET will be influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations, the southern portion may be influenced by the proximity of IH-10 while the extreme north-western portion may be influenced by the anticipated placement and construction of State Highway 130. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be negligible, mostly independent mixed quality residential construction on small to medium size acreage with the possibility of some medium to low density ranchette development scattered throughout the area more than likely concentration near the community of Kingsbury; with a low probability of some light industry and/or commercial development along the State Highway 90 corridor more likely concentrated near Kingsbury. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (81%) Crockett-Demona- Windthorst [1] association with (17%) Houston-Black-Heiden [3] association in the northern portion and (2%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] in the extreme northern portion; with Black-Land Prairie (88%) and Post-Oak Savannah (12%) ecology; and primarily post oak woods with some post oak mosaic and some grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of Bylerpool Road and FM-20, bounded on the south side by FM-20 until it intersects the west bank of the San Marcos River, then northwesterly along the west bank of the San Marcos River until it intersects FM-1979, then southwesterly along FM-1979, turning into FM-621 and then back into FM-1979, until it intersects Offermann Hill Road, then southeasterly along Offermann Road until it intersects FM-1339, then southwesterly along FM-1339 until it intersects Bylerpool Road, then southeasterly along Bylerpool Road to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/-14597 acres, approximately 3.03% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural undeveloped with some concentrated organized independent residential development in the community of Staples; with residential ranchette development in the south-eastern portion in the near San Marcos River area; with independent tract development in the near San Marcos River area south of the community of Martindale; with some retail along FM 621 in the community of Staples. The undeveloped portions are open range, grassland, brush, or cultivated land with some associated residential housing. THE MARKET is influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations, the southern portion may be influenced by the anticipated placement and construction of State Highway 130. The near San Marcos River areas will be highly affected by the limited supply. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be negligible and limited to independent mixed quality residential development by owners on small to medium acreage along with some commercial development along parts of FM-620. The northern might see a higher degree of some medium to high density residential tract housing or ranchette development as a result of urbanization around the city of San Marcos. Waterfront home development with custom housing in independently developed tract areas along the near San Marcos River area will increase as tracts become available. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. Localized residential housing development is anticipated to increase as Martindale annexes into this area.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (42%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association with (42%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association in the interior portion and (16%) Sunev-Seguin [5] association along the San Marcos River; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and primarily grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

until it intersects Woodrow Center Road, then west and northwesterly on Woodrow Center Road until it intersects Gander Slough Road, then northeasterly on Gander Slough Road until it intersects Jones Road, then northwesterly on Jones Road until it intersects Prairie Lea Road, then easterly on Prairie Lea Road until it intersects Cottonwood Creek Road, then northwesterly on Cottonwood Creek Road until it intersects FM-20, the northeasterly on FM-20 until it intersects the west bank of the San Marcos River, then along the west bank of the San Marcos River until it intersects Ili-10, then westerly along IH-10 to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/-27211 acres, approximately 5.65% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural undeveloped with some retail and light industry along State Highway 80 and IH-10 near the city of Luling area; with some organized residential development along Sherrill Road in the near San Marcos River area; with some independent residential ranchette development in the south and southwest portions. The rural areas are generally acreage tracts with mixed quality housing. There is very little waterfront development along the near San Marcos River area. The undeveloped portions are open range, grassland, brush, forest, or cultivated land with some associated residential housing. THE MARKET will be influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; by the availability of utilities and as restricted by FEMA regulations; the southern portion will be influenced by the proximity of State Highway 80 and IH-10 and the city of Luling. The near San Marcos River areas will be highly affected by the limited supply. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be negligible and limited to independent mixed quality residential development by owners on small to medium acreage tracts. The south-east portion might see some medium to high density residential tract housing as a result of urbanization around the city of Luling. Waterfront home development with custom housing in independently developed tract areas along the near San Marcos River area will increase as tracts become available. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. High density residential tract housing development is anticipated to increase in the south-east portion as Luling annexes into this area. There may be some retail and light industry development along the Ili-10 and State Highway 80 corridors near Luling.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (67%) Crockett-Demonia- Windthorst [1] association with (19%) Sunev-Seguin [5] association along the San Marcos River, (10%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association in the north-eastern portion, and (4%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association in the north-western portion; with Black-Land Prairie (17%) and Post-Oak Savannah (83%) ecology; and primarily post oak-grassland mosaic with some grassland-crop mosaic and little post oak woods vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of State Highway 90 Alternate and FM-2438, bounded on the south side by State Highway 90 Alternate easterly until it intersects the Guadalupe County - Wilson County geopolitical boundary line, then north-easterly along the Guadalupe County-Wilson County geopolitical boundary line until it intersects IH-10, then westerly along IH-10 until it intersects FM-2438, then southerly along FM-2438 to the point of beginning. Encompassing +/-37020 acres, approximately 7.68% of the county.

Development: Mostly rural with some unstructured independent ranchette development scattered throughout the area; with very little suburban development, light industry and retail commercial in the far eastern region near the City of Luling along State Highway 80 and IH-10. The rural areas are generally acreage tracts with few platted subdivisions of mixed quality housing. The undeveloped portions are mostly open range, grassland, brush, forest or cultivated land with some associated residential housing. There is some private recreational development in the near San Marcos River area. THE MARKET is influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; by the availability of utilities. The market in the eastern portion is influenced by the proximity of State Highway 80 and IH-10 and the city of Luling. The market in the south-central area will be greatly influenced by the residual oil field development and surface production facilities and abandoned equipment scattered throughout the Darst Field area. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be negligible, mostly independent mixed quality residential construction on small to medium size acreage tracts with the possibility of some medium to low density ranchette development scattered throughout the area; with a low probability of some light industry and/or commercial development along the IH-10 and State Highway 80 corridors near Luling. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (90%) Crockett-Demonia-Windthorst [1] association with (6%) Patillo-Arenosa [4] association in the south-eastern portion and (3%) Sunev-Seguin [5] association in the north-eastern portion; with Black-Land Prairie (13%) and Post-Oak Savannah (87%) ecology; and primarily post oak wood with some post oak-grassland mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of State Highway 123 Bypass and State Highway 90 Alternate, bounded on the south side by State Highway 90 Alternate easterly until it intersects FM-2438, then northerly along FM-2438 until it intersects IH-10, then westerly along IH-10 until it intersects State Highway 123 Bypass, then southerly along State Highway 123 Bypass to point of beginning. Development: Mostly rural with some suburban and urban development in the western portion in and near the city of Seguin along with some light industry and retail commercial development in the western portion along State Hwy Bypass 123 and along US90 and along Alternate 90; with some independent rural residential ranchette development in the central portion along Old Seguin-Luling Road and some tract housing development along Alternate 90. The rural areas are generally acreage tracts with few platted subdivisions, all mixed quality housing; with very limited waterfront custom residential development along the near Geronimo Creek area. There is some private recreational development in the near north-western portion long Geronimo Creek. THE MARKET is influenced by subdivision of land by families or the developers; by the availability of utilities and as regulated by ACUZ (near Randolph Auxiliary Field) and FEMA regulations. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be negligible except in the western portion in and near the city of Seguin which is anticipated to be a mixture of mixed quality residential tract housing, mixed quality residential construction on small to medium size acreage tracts; with the possibility of medium to low density subdivisions and/or ranchette development scattered throughout the area; along with light industry and commercial development along the major thoroughfares [IH-10, State Highway 90, Alternate State Highway 90, State Highway 123 By-Pass] as regulated by the municipality of Seguin. The commercial market along the major thoroughfares will be greatly influenced by the anticipated construction of State Highway 130 near the intersection of IH-10 and State Highway 90 in the near north-western portion. Development of the western portion will be influenced by annexation and urbanization by the city of Seguin along with limits as imposed by ACUZ (near Randolph Auxiliary Field). Development along the near Geronimo Creek areas is anticipated to be limited but may increase as tracts become available. Overall development will be controlled by subdivision of land by owners or developers; the availability of utilities; and, in flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (83%) Crockett-Dernona- Windthorst [1] association with (17%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association on the west portion; with Black-Land Prairie (97%) and Post-Oak Savannah (3%) ecology; and primarily post oak-grassland mosaic with some post oak wood and little grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (71%) Houston Black- Heiden [3] association with (29%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association in the south-western portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of the centerline of the main channel of Cibolo Creek and IH-10, bounded on the south by IH-10 easterly said point until it intersects Santa Clara Rd, then northerly along Santa Clara Rd until it intersects FM-78, then westerly along FM-78 until it intersects Loop 539, continuing westerly along Loop 539 until it intersects FM-78, continuing westerly along FM-78 until it intersects Robin Drive, then south-easterly down Robin Drive to an imaginary line that follows the boundary of the city of Cibolo until it crossing Haeckerville Road, then follows W. Schaefer Road and E. Schaefer Road to the intersection of centerline of the main channel of Cibolo Creek, then south-easterly along the centerline of the main channel of Cibolo Creek to point of beginning. Encompassing an area of +/-9830 acres, approximately 2.04% of the county.

Development: Mostly undeveloped rural acreage with urban development within the city limits of Cibolo and Schertz in the north-western portion with light residential development along the near Cibolo Creek area; some light industrial and retail commercial along FM 78 and the western end of IH-10; otherwise, mostly unstructured acreages and independent residential development. There is little development along the near Cibolo Creek area. THE MARKET is affected by tract availability and by subdivision of land by owners or developers. The market along the near Cibolo Creek area will be influenced by limited supply. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be limited and influenced by municipal control of the relevant cities and urbanization by the cities of Schertz and Cibolo and as well as the availability of utilities and, in the flood zone areas, as restricted by FEMA regulations. High density residential development is anticipated to increase as cities annex into this area and developers continue to expand the suburban areas. Light industry and retail commercial is expected to develop along FM-78 and the western end of IH-10 due to proximity to the urban areas of the San Antonio SMSA.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (96%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association with (4%) Houston Black-Heiden [3] association in the north-eastern portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

Geo-30

No longer appraised per HB 1010; Bexar County areas that are concurrent in the Schertz-Cibolo-Universal City School District and/or the City of Schertz.

Geo-31

Area, beginning at the south-west corner, located at the intersection of the centerline of the main channel of Cibolo Creek and FM-2538, bounded on the south by FM-2538 easterly from said point to and crossing FM-775 and continuing easterly on Old School Rd until it intersects Breitzke Rd, then northerly along Breitzke Rd until it intersects FM-775, then north-easterly along FM-775 until it intersects IH-10, then westerly along IH-10 until it intersects the middle of the main channel of Cibolo Creek, then southerly along the centerline of the main channel of Cibolo Creek to point of beginning. Encompassing an area of +/-14888 acres, approximately 3.09% of the county.

Development: Mostly undeveloped rural with limited platted residential mixed housing development in the north-western portion with very light mixed quality residential development along some of the near Cibolo Creek area portions. The undeveloped portion is mostly open range, grassland, brush, or cultivated fields with some associated residential housing and with limited retail commercial and light industrial development along IH-10. THE MARKET is affected by tract availability and by subdivision of land by owners; and, especially in the near Cibolo Creek area and along major thoroughfares, limited availability. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is expected to be limited, anticipated to be mostly light industrial along the IH-10 and FM 725 corridors and with independent residential custom housing in the rural areas in the southern portion near the City of New Berlin. Development in the eastern and western portion will be affected by the flood zone restrictions associated with Santa Clara Creek the Cibolo Creek respectfully.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (48%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association with (29%) Crockett-Demona- Windthorst [1] association in the south-eastern portion, and (23%) Houston-Black-Heiden [3] association in the north-eastern portion; with Black-Land Prairie ecology; and grassland-crop mosaic and some post oak-grassland mosaic vegetation type.

Geo-32

Area, beginning at the most south-west extent of Guadalupe County, bounded on the south by the Guadalupe County geopolitical boundary line easterly from said point to FM-539, then northerly along FM-539 until it intersects FM-467, then easterly along FM-467 until it intersects Olmos Loop, then east and north along Olmos Loop until it intersects FM-467, then northerly along FM-467 until it intersects Sweet Home Road, then west and north along Sweet Home Road until it intersects FM-775, then west and south along FM-725 until it intersects Breitzke Rd, then southerly along Breitzke Rd until it intersects Old School Road, then westerly along Old School Road to and crossing FM-775 and continuing westerly along FM-2538 until it intersects then centerline of the main channel of Cibolo Creek, then southerly along the centerline of the main channel of Cibolo Creek to point of beginning. Encompassing an area of +/- 21647 acres, approximately 4.49% of the county.

Development: Mostly undeveloped rural with a mixture of small to large acreage with some associate residential housing along with some custom housing on platted subdivision and ranchettes tracts. The undeveloped portion is mostly open range, grassland, brush, or cultivated fields with some associated residential housing; and with limited light industry and retail commercial along FM725 in the city of New Berlin. There is very light independent custom residential housing development along the near Cibolo Creek area. THE MARKET is affected by tract availability and by subdivision of land by owners or developers; and especially in the near Cibolo Creek area and along major thoroughfares, limited availability. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT is anticipated to be light and limited to additional platted subdivision and ranchette lots; and in the flood zone areas, by FEMA regulations.

General Soil, Ecological and Vegetation Type: Primarily (83%) Crockett-Demona- Windthorst [1] association, with (14%) Branyon-Barbarosa-Lewisville [2] association along the Cibolo Creek, and (4%) Patilo-Arenosa [4] association in the southern portion; with Black-Land Prairie (77%) and Post-Oak Savannah (23%) ecology; and primarily post oak-grassland mosaic with some grassland-crop mosaic vegetation type.

NB: Referenced to roads is meant to imply the centerline of the right-of-way.

Soil types are per "Soil Survey of Guadalupe County, Texas", published by National Cooperative Soil Survey, issued March, 1977.

Ecological area types as per "A&M Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Leaflet #492, by Bould/Hoffman/Rechenthin, issued 1960.

Vegetation type as per Texas Parks & Wildlife Department

Market: In all cases, market is affected by the supply-demand phenomena and availability of financing.

Development: In all cases, development in flood zone areas is affected by FEMA regulations.

Industrial Real Property Mass Appraisal Procedure and Timeline

Although valuation is set for either January 1 of the tax year or September 1 of the previous calendar year prior to the current tax year, the appraisal process begins in September of the previous year and continues through August of the tax year.

September 1 of previous year to March 31 of the current tax year

Discovery and listing. This includes physical inspection of existing properties to appraise and discovery of potential new properties to appraise. New potential properties are reported to the appraisal district to determine if Capitol Appraisal will value the property for the current tax year.

April 1 until complete

Appraisal of properties both market value and taxable value. Deadlines for completion of appraisals and sending out value notices are based upon individual deadlines set by the appropriate appraisal district. Every effort is made to appraise every property timely so that values can be included in certification. Properties not included in certification are reported to the appraisal district and the appraisal process continues until final value is reached. Supplementing the tax roll with those properties is based upon the timeline established by the appraisal district.

July 25

Appraisal roll is certified. Every effort is made to ensure all properties have a final valuation by this date. Exceptions may include properties with late renditions, extensions, or other allowable justifications which preclude final valuation by July 25.

July 26 to August 31

Review current tax year methods and procedures, and begin general property classification research for the next tax year. Special reports for the appraisal districts are created at this time as requested.

Utility, Railroad and Pipeline Property Mass Appraisal Procedure and Timeline

Although valuation is set for either January 1 of the tax year or September 1 of the previous calendar year prior to the current tax year, the appraisal process begins in September of the previous year and continues through August of the tax year.

September 1 of previous year to March 31 of the current tax year

Research and capitalization rate development. For properties valued via the income approach data is obtained and analyzed for calculation of a capitalization rate appropriate to a specific property type.

October to December

Submission of appraisals to the Property Tax Assistance Division (PTAD) of the Comptroller's office and preparation of value defense for any properties included in their ratio study. Defense documentation and appraisal analysis of the PTAD appraisal is prepared and submitted to the appraisal district or the representative of the taxing jurisdictions whichever is appropriate.

Oil and Gas Mass Appraisal Procedures and Timeline

Capitol Appraisal Group, LLC (CAGL) contracts with Appraisal Districts and other governmental entities to appraise all oil and gas subsurface, producing, mineral interests within the purview of the law.

October-December:

SEC 10(k) data gathered for use in discount rate study.

A base discount rate is developed using the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) 10k Standard Measure of Value, before Federal Income Tax (BFIT), for a grouping of Exploration and Production (E&P) companies, and then matching their 10k Standard Measure of Value (BFIT), reserves and costs, through a discounted cash flow (DCF) technique. This reserve and cost match is used with Section 23.175 pricing directives to determine a discount rate necessary to equal the stock and debt value of the companies, as of January 1 for a given tax year. This analysis is calibrated with a WACC for the same companies that are used in the stock and debt analysis. Management determines an appropriate base discount rate to be used.

January:

Discount rate study finalized

November-March:

The appraiser commences the annual appraisal cycle with identification of new property and determination of situs.

"Minerals in place" and an estate or interest in the same, are classified by the state of Texas as real property. They cannot be physically identified by inspection like other real property. However, the inability to directly inspect does not appreciably affect the ability to identify and appraise these minerals in place and estates or interests in the same. CAGL obtains monthly oil and gas lease production information from the Railroad Commission of Texas [RRC] and compares it to existing oil and gas properties already identified and appraised. New properties are identified in this process by comparing existing data to new information obtained from the RRC.

The appraiser determines the validity of new properties and then determines the situs of these new properties by obtaining plats, W-2/G-1 records obtained from the RRC, and using in-house mapping resources.

January-March:

Appraisers begin entering detailed new property information.

Along with RRC lease specific information, the appraiser enters the lease's legal description, its situs, and detailed lease information obtained from the RRC. This process of discovery and entry into the appraisal system continues year round to identify assessable properties that are obtained because of delays in the RRC reporting system.

February:

Comptroller's 23.175 pricing data and market condition factors are obtained and incorporated into the appraisal system.

February-April:

Properties are appraised and values are posted on the CAG web site for clients, operators and agents to review and submit information.

Appraiser(s) access production declines for leases to be appraised. Based on the appraiser's decline rate analysis and review of previous year's appraisal parameters and current Comptroller pricing data, the estimated value for the current appraisal year is determined.

Preliminary appraised values are available from the CAG web site www.cagi.com following appraiser and supervisor review.

April-May:

Preliminary appraisals reviewed.

Appraisers review operating expenses, product prices, new or revised information about production submitted by operators and agents before Notifications of Value are mailed to taxpayers.

May-July:

Notified values formally & informally reviewed.

Appraisers work with taxpayers following Notification of Value and continue to review information submitted by royalty owners, operators and agents. The ARB process is part of this review
